(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec.
3.—The regular session of congress opened Monday to investigate what was done at the last session.

This session is also to relieve the farmer again; relieve him of any encouragement that he might have received during the last one.
One thing
Mr. Hoover is not responsible for the holding of this session. Got to blame the founders of the Constitution for it.
Can't lay this one on him.
That last one cured him.
Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Some drivers are risking it, driving about over the streets minus chains on their cars. Perhaps it's all right if they are careful drivers and know when too fast is too fast, but some evidently don't. It's no time to show off, tricks as Pa New saw one driver do Monday before an audience of pedestrians on the North Hill.

What promises to be a gala show is the first county indoor airplane contest under the auspices of the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council at the Carnegie auditorium next Friday night. Flying machines, the products of different boys, will be tried out as to their flying efficiency.
Others will be on exhibition.

Evidence is piling up day by day that New Castle is going to be decorated for the Yuletide season in a much more extensive manner than ever before. Hundreds of private homes will add to the brilliance of the Christmas-tide. With the basis of the past few years, and additions to be made this season, the city will present a striking appearance. Many community trees are being planned.

Pa New notes that the new street lights ordered in the vicinity of the new Jameson Memorial hospital have not as yet been erected, or at least were not burning last night.

Coasters on the city streets should exercise more caution than is being used at the present time. Auto drivers report that they are encountering coasters on many of the thoroughfares of the city, and that they have no means of telling what streets are being used for coasting.

This kind of weather is rather tough on youngsters who have no sled but are expecting Santa Claus to bring them one. They are forced to miss a lot of good fun in the meantime.

The winter of 1909-10 started out just like it has this year, one of the Pa New family remembers. He was helping a local milkman deliver milk that winter, and they used a sled from the middle of December until the first of March. There was not so much auto traffic in those days, and the snow was not removed from the streets for their benefit. People who had machines then, put them up for the winter after a few inches of snow had fallen.

The minimum temperature recorded during the past 24 hours was 10 degrees, but few people realized it was that cold after the zero weather we have been experiencing heretofore.

Another inch and a half of snow fell since yesterday morning, the official weather report shows.

Time of year is arriving when new duties devolve upon the city plainclothes officers. They will spend most of their time during the next few weeks in the shopping district.
Crowded stores during the holiday season are always watched closely by plainclothes police officers.

The Neshannock creek is now frozen from bank to bank from the Rosena dam up stream as far as one can see from the East Washington street bridge. This is probably the earliest that the stream has been frozen over in many years. The ice is not safe for skating however and is too rough for that purpose anyhow.

Local firemen have had a respite during the past two days, no alarms having been turned in since early

Daily Weather Report

Weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning are as follows:
Maximum temperature, 29.
Minimum temperature, 10.
Precipitation, 15 inches, 1 1/2 inches of snowfall.
River stage, 5.2 feet and falling.

President Says Crisis In Stock

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—
President Hoover informed congress today that the most serious issue before the American people is the steady growth of lawlessness.

In his first annual message, giving an account of his stewardship in the White House for nine months and affording a peek into the future, the President reported that the general state of the nation—economically, financially and from an international standpoint—is excellent.

Must Be Remedied
But law enforcement, he declared, "is far from satisfactory" and "these conditions must be remedied."

He referred specifically to prohibition. And as in his inaugural address last March he sounded again

Message Given Good Reception

Attitude Of Congress On Hoover Message Seems To Be Friendly

COMMENT MADE BY U. S. SENATORS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—President Hoover's message was given a friendly reception by congress today, with his prohibition, tariff and economic recommendations arousing chief interest.

The regular Republican viewpoint was expressed by Senator Watson of Ind., the Republican floor leader.
"The president's message is very thorough and comprehensive," said Watson.

"It is in nowise dictatorial but is suggestive throughout and was written in a conciliatory tone that shows his entire willingness to cooperate with the legislative branch of government in all matters pertaining to the public weal."

"I trust that every one of the subjects he has dealt with will be earnestly considered by the congress now in session for I am convinced that, if his recommendations can be acted upon favorably, great good will result to the country and additional prosperity be brought to our people."

Insurgent View.
The insurgent view was given by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, a leader of the bloc that bolted on the tariff.

"I thoroughly agree with his request for speedy action on the tariff," said Borah. "I know, however, when the motion to confine revision to agriculture was defeated and the finance committee acted on 21,000 items, about 18,000 of which were industrial, that we couldn't look for speedy action. We will do the best we can and I hope his advice as to speed will be religiously followed."

Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, added:
"It is a splendid document. I think it covers all the pressing problems before the country in a masterly manner."
Senator Oddie (R) of Nevada, said:

NEW YORK DIGS OUT OF FIRST HEAVY SNOW

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Transportation, including both air and ground, was seriously impaired today as New York and other eastern centres of population started to dig themselves out of the first heavy snow of the year.
In New York 2,000 regular city street cleaners were put to work as soon as the snow stopped falling yesterday, and by today most of the principal thoroughfares had been cleared.
Regular air lines were unusually hard hit by the snowfall. Postal authorities reported it was necessary to ship airmail a considerable distance outside the city before it could be dispatched to its destination by plane.

Hundreds of commuters were delayed.
Harbor traffic, however, remained unaffected.

Numerous accidents were reported as a result of the slippery streets. Four deaths and 11 injuries occurred in automobile accidents during the last 24 hours.

All Postoffices Whose Annual Receipts Are More Than $20,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The two-day congressional program to speed business throughout the country—a tax reduction of $160,000,000 and public improvements costing hundreds of millions—will be well under way today with introduction of a $215,000,000 public buildings bill by Representative Richard N. Elliott (R) of Indiana, chairman of the House buildings committee.

At Request of President
The Elliott bill, which is introduced at the request of President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, provides 100,000,000 for post offices and federal buildings throughout the country and $115,000,000 to complete the vast building program in the District of Columbia.

This measure follows the tax cut bill introduced by Representative Hawley (R) of Oregon, and a bill by Representative Dowell (R) of Iowa to increase the annual federal aid for highway building from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000.

The fourth great undertaking for domestic improvements—$125,000,000 rivers and harbors bill—will be proposed by Representative Dempsey (R) of New York.

Increases Yearly Amount
"My bill will increase from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000 the amount which may be spent each year for public buildings," said Representative Elliott. "It will provide that cities in which the government already owns sites for post offices shall be given preference in the allocation of funds.
It will permit the employment of private architects."

"This measure will take care of the demands of practically all the cities and towns in the country where post

Coolidge May Enter Senate Capital Hears

Veteran Senator Gillette Of Massachusetts Is Ready To Retire

OPENS DOOR FOR COOLIDGE ENTRY

No Announcement As Yet
From Coolidge—Fuller
May Be Candidate

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—
Senator Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts!

Washington was eagerly speculating on this possibility today as a result of the announcement by the vet-erant Senator Frederic H. Gillette that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself next year. Gillette is 79 years old, has been in congress continuously for 35 years and has decided to retire.

Coolidge Candidacy
The retirement of Gillette undoubtedly opens the door to a Coolidge candidacy. Of that the politicians of the Capital are certain.

Whether the former President will "choose" to take advantage of the opening remains to be seen. Some political authorities here believe he will—provided he is given sufficient assurance that he will have no opposition for the nomination, and provided further that conditions are sufficiently favorable to indicate Republican success in Massachusetts next November.

The outstanding senatorial threat against Gillette in Massachusetts has been for some time ex-Governor Alvin T. Fuller. His friends have understood that he planned to run for the senate seat next year irrespective of whether Gillette retired or not, and not a few politicians both here and in the Bay State have been inclined to the belief that Fuller would have defeated Gillette in a primary contest for the nomination.

Declined Ambassadorship
It was because of his senatorial ambitions that Gov. Fuller recently declined appointment as Ambassador to Japan, offered him by President Hoover. He is understood to have informed the White House that he was not interested in a diplomatic appointment.

However, it is recognized here that while Fuller may have been willing to undertake a fight against Gillette for the nomination, he might decide otherwise with respect to Calvin Coolidge. "That, too, however, remains to be seen."

Should Mr. Coolidge "choose" to

William E. Wilson and W. J. Mar-ton, Slippery Rock, were injured yesterday afternoon when an automobile in which they were riding skidded from the Butler-Slippery Rock highway, 1 1/2 miles west of Slippery Rock.
Wilson was brought to Jameson Memorial hospital here. He has a leg broken at the hip joint, and cuts about the head. Martin received injuries to the chest and ribs.

Afraid He'll Fall Asleep In Jury Box

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—"I'm afraid I'll fall asleep in the jury box," Duncan C. Calhoun, negro, of Coraopolis said in common pleas court, in asking to be excused from jury service.
Judge James B. Drew assured Calhoun that that would be taken care of satisfactorily, so Calhoun tried again.
"I can't hear very well. I'm hard of hearing," Calhoun explained. Judge Drew spoke to the man in a normal tone. Calhoun answered.
"We'll take a chance on you,"
the court decided.

Autoist Bruised When Car Overturns

Albert J. Worth, Coraopolis, escaped serious injury yesterday when a coupe he was operating along the Wampum road overturned. According to state highway patrol reports his car was crowded and in an effort to avoid a collision he swerved the car and it overturned. The accident occurred at the Piedmont farm. The operator was bruised about his chest.

breach of promise. According to reports the count was refused the re-

SENATOR NORRIS
DEMANDS ACTION

Unbiased Survey Shows That Vare Will Be Denied His

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—After two years of investigation into charges of slush funds, fraud and corruption in the 1926 election of Senator-Elect William S. Vare
(R) of Pa., the senate today faced another week's delay before reaching a final decision on seating the Pennsylvanian.

This delay will be asked by Vare's friends to permit a decision from the senate elections committee on the contest filed against Vare by William B.
Wilson, Democrat, who served in Woodrow Wilson's wartime cabinet, the delay would bring both Vare's eligibility and Wilson's contest before the senate next week for a double-barreled verdict.

Demand Decision.
The insurgent forces, led by Senator Norris (R) of Neb., however, will demand an immediate decision on Vare's seating. They argue the question has been pending before the senate for more than two years, ever since the Reed slush fund committee revealed in 1926 that the Vare organization spent $800,000 in his primary election. Norris has insisted

Searchers Find No Trace As Yet Of Missing Pilot

Planes And Searching Parties Afoot Hunt Mercer-
Clarion Area

DISAPPEARANCE IS COMPLETE MYSTERY

Nelson May Have Passed Pennsylvania Line Is New Theory

(International News Service)
CLARION, Pa., Nov. 3.—
Five planes from Clarion set out again this morning to take up the search for Mail Pilot Thomas P. Nelson, missing since early yesterday morning.

The belief is growing here that Nelson must have passed safely through Pennsylvania's "Hell Stretch" and that he was forced down in Ohio's rugged terrain between the Pennsylvania State Line and Cleveland.
Twelve planes searching every bit of the terrain from here to the State Line yesterday had failed to find a single trace of a wrecked plane.

Passes Over Knox
It has been definitely established that Nelson passed over Knox, ten miles west of here, with Judd Baker, a newspaperman reporting that he saw the plane from here to the State Line yesterday had failed to find a single trace of a wrecked plane.

Reports of residents who heard a hum like that of an airplane over Clintonville, Pa., shortly after Nelson left here have strengthened the belief that he managed to struggle through the blinding storm in this section and that he was forced down nearer his destination at Cleveland than here.

Later in the morning, two more planes joined the search. Every rumor of any possible connection with the missing pilot was being carefully checked and the territory so carefully searched yesterday is being gone over again today in the hope that some trace might be found of the plane of the pilot.

Poor Visibility
Poor visibility and cold weather have added to the danger of the search and have hampered the efforts of rescue parties.

Pilot W. L. Smith, National Air Transport Supervisor from Cleveland is heading the searching parties and directing the search. Working with him is a crew of select pilots, including H. P. Little of Cleveland; F. H.
Burnside and Paul E. Reeder of Chicago; Charles Haas of Cleveland and H. Shack of New York.

Ralph Smith, a radio operator of Berea, O., is also aiding the search.
A report that a man had been heard crying for help near Gobel's Hole, three and a half miles west of Clarion at 2 p. m. yesterday resulted in the organization of a farmer's party on foot. A thorough search of the region today had failed to show any trace of Nelson.

Hope for better visibility in today's search from the air was expressed with the forecast of clearer weather than that which prevailed here yesterday.

New Wilmington and Pulaski road will soon be thrown open for travel, according to County Commissioner Calvin Boyd. There remained about 175 feet to complete when the cold been finished and as soon as it hardens sufficiently the road will be end toward New Wilmington has been open for some time.

Long Service Tyler Ending

Member Of Council Has Served at City Hall For Ten Years

FORMERLY MAYOR;
ALSO COUNCILMAN

Councilman Walter V. Tyler, who has spent ten years in assisting in running the affairs of New Castle, will wind up his current term as councilman and retire to the life of a private citizen on January 6.

During this long period of time, Mr. Tyler has served both as mayor of the city and as a councilman, one of the few citizens of New Castle who have been so honored.

He was elected as mayor of New Castle in 1911 and served in that capacity until 1915. In those days the old form of city government still existed, when there was a common and select council, with eight members in the select branch and 16 in the common. After his term as mayor expired he was elected a member of council in the new commission form of government, serving as superintendent of accounts and finance.

Mr. Tyler then dropped out of politics for a few years, running for council in 1925, when he was again elected. During his last four-year term he has served as superintendent of parks and buildings, a branch that he has always been most interested in.

It was during his term as mayor that the city acquired Gaston park. New Castle's only public park. This tract of land was purchased for $7,500. Eventually it will probably be improved and made a real breathing spot for local citizens.

After his return to council in 1926 he has given much thought to the improvement of the city's playground system and has worked strenuously to secure various public improvements.

Under his charge the city garbage plant and sewage disposal plant have been brought to a high point of efficiency. The fame of these plants has spread abroad and many cities which contemplate the erection of similar plants come here to study the system and inquire into the methods of operation.

Councilman Tyler has not announced his future plans. His health has not been of the best during the past few years, and during his present term he was forced to temporarily abandon his duties for a time.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Sunday morning. They made up for it last week when they spent the greater part of two nights fighting fire in the bitter cold. All that is forgotten, however, for today is pay-day.

Some very attractive store windows have been arranged for the Christmas season, perhaps the most interesting of which is the big front window of the New Castle Dry Goods Co. where Santa and his reindeer are on the way. The deer nod their heads and blink their eyes in a most natural manner.

Several of the local banks mailed their Christmas checks to depositors yesterday. In previous years the checks have not been mailed until around the 5th of the month.

A sight of extreme beauty which should be appreciated is the Neshannock river from the East Washington street bridge. Part of the river is frozen over and the contrast between the pure white snow and the swift dark water is rather picturesque.

Saw four girls carrying bags with Westminster stickers on them, thumbing for a lift to New Wilmington this morning.

Be sure to buy some Christmas seals. Make the sale an outstanding success.

Evidently automobilists who operate along the state highways are operating their cars with extreme caution. During the past few days snow has fallen and covered the highways but the state highway patrolmen, who ride the roads, state that outside of some cars being ditched serious injury to the drivers has been averted.

Employees of the city department of streets today are cutting ice at the base of State street. The ice formed from water which emanated from a broken storm sewer. The city has had considerable difficulty with this sewer in the past periods.

There will be no decision rendered by council in the case of Plumbers vs Inspector E. S. Stevenson until the return of the mayor or a full quorum of council is present. Last Friday the decision was not handed down because Councilman Burns was absent and now the mayor, W. H. Gillespie.

is hunting. The mayor is expected to return for next Monday's meeting.

Billy Glenn, exponent of the peanut and various Cascade park amusements, reminisced today and declared: "Business is conducted different nowadays. The pedestrians are missing. The people now ride in automobiles and do not as formerly inspect windows. They leave their cars only where they stop."

It is not probable that the Glenn pool at Cascade park will be converted this winter into an ice rink as the water would have to be put in at such a depth that the ice might cause the concrete walls to bulge. However, it would make an excellent place where persons could skate with safety.

A couple bearing Nevada license plates, standing in North Mercer street this morning, was certainly far away from the borders of its home state.

The effect of the Christmas rush is already noticeable at the post office. Clerks say that considerable foreign mailing is being done. Folks back in the native lands are being remembered by their sons and daughters living here, and in order that the gifts might arrive in time for the occasion they must be sent now. Finland, Poland, Great Britain are countries to which considerable mail is being sent from here.

Speaking of mailing presents abroad, the clerks inform us that no solid or whole goods can be sent to Italy. Premier Mussolini's policy bars all incoming goods unless it is in yard lengths. A coat, hat or the like can't be sent, but the goods out of which to make a coat or hat can. So through the different articles of clothing, in the case of Italy. This somewhat lessens the volume sent to that land.

SENATE MAY DELAY DECISION ON VARE FOR ANOTHER WEEK

Vare should be barred because of this expenditure.

The Vare leaders, though, want to decide the Wilson contest at the same time. The senate elections subcommittee, which heard evidence for the last eighteen months, will report today to the full committee. A majority undoubtedly will declare Vare as legally elected and recommend dismissal of Wilson's contest.

Such a verdict when reported to the senate, Vare's friends believe, will have a helpful influence in defeating Norris' ouster resolution.

Will Be Denied.
An unbiased survey of the situation by International News Service however indicated Vare would be denied a seat, regardless of the outcome in the Wilson contest. This eventuality was predicted when Vare's own supporters announced a willingness to declare his seat vacant. The strategy in such a maneuver would be to permit the appointment of a senator by the governor of Pennsylvania. If Vare were merely declared ineligible and the Wilson contest held open, it was argued by one group, the governor would be unable to make an appointment and Pennsylvania would continue to be limited to a single senator. His view however was debated, some of Vare's friends insisting that with Vare barred, a vacancy would exist since he alone held official certification by the state as its senator. With him out, the second group contended, vacancy would exist and the governor could appoint. This appointee however would be subject thereafter to defending his seat against Wilson's contest.

In view of such a diversity of opinion, it seemed probable the senate would agree to one more week's postponement. This would bring a verdict sometime next week and end an election contest that has hung fire in the senate for two years.

Vare himself was here, despite his recent illness. He planned an appearance on the floor of the senate and a lengthy defense of his right to the seat, when debate gets under way. In the meantime, he will be seated on the Democratic side of the chamber where his vacant chair has been standing ever since the senate denied him his oath of office in March, 1927.

HOOPER STRESSES LAW ENFORCEMENT IN FIRST MESSAGE

a clarion call for law observance by all classes of society, particularly by so-called "good citizens".

"We can no longer," he said, "gloss over the unpleasant reality that he who condones or traffics with crime, who is indifferent to it and to punishment of the criminal, is himself the most effective agency for the breakdown of society. It is the most serious issue before our people."

Prohibition itself is concerned. Mr. Hoover again proposed some of the remedial measures he put forward last March—the transfer of enforcement from the Treasury to the Department of Justice; simplification of court procedure to speed up trials; and creation of prohibitory laws to eliminate red tape—but in the final analysis he conceded that the principal remedy lies with the people themselves.

"Law," he observed, "cannot rise above its source in good citizenship—in that right-minded men must earnestly believe and desire."

It was noted with some significance, however, that the President did not mention, let alone endorse, the Sheppard bill, which would make the buyer of liquor a felon along with the seller. Nor did he recommend any greater appropriation from the treasury to reinforce the army of agents now trying to enforce the law.

Only Unpleasant Feature.
The blot of lawlessness was the principal, virtually the only one, which Mr. Hoover found in the pleasant picture of national conditions.

He reported business basically sound, so much so, in fact, that it is safe to immediately cut federal taxes to the extent of 160,000,000, benefiting all classes.

The outlook for international peace and reduction of armament never was better, he said; he asserted agricultural conditions are vastly improved; that railways are in a sound condition; and that generally speaking the American people are better off today than they have ever been, in a material sense.

"The problems we are confronted with," he said, "are the problems of growth and progress."

It was a voluminous message which Mr. Hoover transmitted to the new Congress, and it contained recommendations on more than a score of problems, ranging from fiscal affairs to social service.

On the tariff, which Congress wrestled unsuccessfully with all summer, he reiterated his desire for a tariff beneficial primarily to agriculture and to "sick industries," but he refrained again from expressing any opinion upon the original House bill with its high and general increases in industrial rates.

He quoted at some length from his message to the special session last April on the tariff, said he saw no reason to change his views as there expressed, and only added that, "it would be most helpful if action should be taken at an early moment." He did say, however, he wanted the flexible provision maintained. The Senate has knocked out that provision in the pending bill, in defiance of his wishes.

(The message is one of the lengthiest presidential messages ever presented to Congress in many years, and is found complete in another part of this issue.)

Y. W. C. A. Bible Class Meets Tonight

The third meeting of the Community Bible study class for men and women under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. will be held this evening at 7:30 in the Y. W. parlors. The instructor is the Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church and the subject for this evening's lesson is "The Seed Existing During the Time of Christ."

That the class is meeting the need for Bible study sponsored by an inter-denominational agency is evidenced by the fact that twelve different local church congregations were represented at the meeting last Tuesday.

Mrs. J. L. Stratton, chairman of the Religious Education committee of the Y. W. C. A. wishes to announce that those having other engagements during the evening are welcome to come in for any part of the lecture if they find it impossible to remain for the entire hour. Men as well as women are invited.

But why must we be so careful to keep the friendship of Europe if Europe won't do a darned thing to keep ours?

STAR LORE A PLANETARIUM FOR THE MASSSES

By Arthur D. Carpenter

In America we are hearing of a popular German invention by Dr. Bauersfeld, a Planetarium, that reproduces the starry heavens, sun, moon, planets, said to rival a miracle. The celestial objects are displayed on a realistic cloth sky dome 90 feet in diameter. They are projected from an instrument under the dome center the shape of a dumb-bell containing 117 magic lanterns; the dumb-bell balls contain the stars; the handle between the sun, moon and planets. Each lens is provided with a section of sky; the earth and all the planets are seen carried around the sun. This invention is very expensive, but meets the popular need. Thousands flock to see. America will also install it. (More tomorrow) run" for the senate and return to the scene of his presidency as a member of congress he would be but following in the footsteps of another distinguished New England president.

COOLIDGE MAY ENTER SENATE CAPITAL HEARS

Adams Case Cited
John Quincy Adams followed his presidency by standing for congress in his home district in Massachusetts. He was elected and served continuously for many years until his death, in Washington.

The historic precedent is calculated to appeal to one of Mr. Coolidge's temperament and background.

Friends of the former president here point out that almost for the first time in his adult life Calvin Coolidge is out of office. He has "nothing to do" save a bit of writing, and for one of his habits and training that cannot occupy a great deal of his time.

He likes Washington, and still short of 60 years' old, he is too young to go upon the shelf of permanent retirement.

Maybe Mr. Coolidge will "choose to run"; maybe he won't. But the question mark has political Washington eagerly speculating.

KANE, Pa., Dec. 3.—Traffic on the Renovo division of the Pennsylvania is being rerouted today while wrecking crews from Kane and Emporium clear the tracks of the debris from a freight wreck here last night when 13 cars piled up between Ridgway and St. Marys.

A man named Wolfe, believed to have been "riding the rods", was seriously injured in the wreck. At the Ridgway hospital it was said that it may be necessary to amputate the man's leg to save his life.

The train wrecked was a fast freight en route from Renovo to Erie, Pa.

Wrecking crews today expected to correct this sentence: "The ability of congress to govern the country well," said he, "is demonstrated by the way it governs the District of Columbia."

AS PRESIDENT VIEWS SOME CONDITIONS

HASTY perusal of the lengthy address of President Herbert Hoover to congress, as read this afternoon before the house and senate, indicate that the president finds most everything in good shape in this nation.

The greatest problem he finds confronting the United States is the matter of law enforcement. The message refers specifically to prohibition, and as in his inaugural address last March, he again calls upon all the people to observe the law, especially the so-called "Good Citizens."

"We can no longer gloss over the unpleasant reality that he who condones or traffics with crime, who is indifferent to it and to the punishment of the criminal, is himself the most effective agency for the breakdown of society. It is the most serious issue before our people," the president said.

The president reiterated his recommendations made last March for the handling of the prohibition situation, but conceded that in the final analysis the principal remedy lies in the attitude of the people, and with the people themselves.

Aside from the consideration and recommendations made on many matters of national importance, the president has an inspiring word to add anent the economic conditions and the recent stock market crash: "The country came safely through the crisis created by the stock market collapse. There was some fear that general business might start retrenchment policies because of the uneasiness and thus cause unemployment, but that danger is now past, due to mobilization of governmental agencies to co-operate with and encourage general business expansion."

The message is one forecasting that the best is just ahead. Conditions are good throughout the nation, increased prosperity is in store, and 1930 bids fair to be a notable one for the nation, the president foresees.

Let's keep in step—Onward with Hoover!

GROUP INSURANCE

Group life insurance, first inaugurated 18 years ago, now protects the dependents of 4,000,000 persons under policies for a total principal of $5,500,000,000. Fifteen per cent of life insurance now in force on lives of citizens of the United States is in the group form.

Group insurance is regarded as the most important innovation the insurance industry ever fostered, because it has given insurance protection to millions of workers and their dependents and has exerted a stabilizing effect on labor. Many persons insured under the group plan carry on other insurance and die leaving no other estate.

Statistics over a long period of years have demonstrated that wage-earners generally have been underinsured, and a large percentage of them uninsured. They show that 40 per cent of them carry no insurance and that the other 60 per cent are insured for an average of $500. Another investigation which dealt with payments made under group insurance policies covering 3,000 cases disclosed that 83 per cent of the beneficiaries were virtually penniless.

The benefits of group insurance, which account no doubt for its popularity, have come to all concerned. Insurance companies are able to issue this form of insurance at low premiums because solicitation are reduced, medical examinations are eliminated and employers collect the premiums for the insurance companies. The insured are able to obtain coverage regardless of age or physical conditions, rates are low and often paid in whole or part by employers, and beneficiaries have the added advantage of immediate settlements. Employers discovered it stabilized labor.

Designed by insurance companies as a means of increasing business, it could not have succeeded but for the fact that both workers and employers found it useful and valuable.

EDUCATION'S FIRST FEDERAL SURVEY

The federal government has had a continuous record of a hands-off policy in regard to education. The question came up when the framers of the constitution met, but education was left to the individual states then, and has never been federally acted upon since.

Under the sanction of President Hoover a nationwide study has been begun. The various departments of the government are co-operating, and the stated purposes are:

To gather, compile, interpret and disseminate adequate statistics of national scope at all levels of education.

To furnish experts on request to co-operate in state or community surveys in education.

State control of education has been a wise thing. Needs change and differ with localities, and it has even been held that the state was too large a unit to supervise the education of all of its cities and rural districts. There is much propaganda for federalizing education, but majority opinion is against that change.

The national survey, however, will not come amiss. Certain aspects of education do and must concern the nation as a whole. Among these is the illiteracy rate. A national survey is bound to aid in reducing this handicap to progress, and it may be of value in other fields.

It will help to line up policies, to compare the states in respect to education progress. Much good and no harm can come of it so long as it continues to be "a chart to guide our educational course" and not a step towards creating a federal department to control educational activities.

REMOVING SNOW WITH CHEMICALS

Upon the result of an experiment in New York City for the removal of snow by sprinkling a chemical solution on the streets may depend a revolution in this very costly and primitively handled work in the large cities in the northern part of the United States.

The Borough of Queens has purchased a carload of chemical solids for $500 and will follow the directions of Dr. Howard Barnes, the famous physicist of McGill University, Toronto, and inventor of thermite. It is waiting for the first heavy fall of snow to use these chemicals in a liquid solution to be sprayed on the streets by the regular equipment of the street cleaning department. When the solution strikes the snow it is said to melt it immediately and the water runs off through the sewers.

So simple a process to replace the hard labor of thousands of shovellers and hundreds of motor trucks seems scarcely creditable, but the effect of the chemical upon snow is certified by Dr. Barnes.

Whether any complications may arise to lessen its effect when used over large areas is not apparent, though it is said that motorbus lines in the vicinity of Cleveland have made successful experiments.

The fool who has been parted from his money always feels cheap.

You hear a lot of talk about self-made men, but all men are that.

If you want to make someone believe you tell them something they want to hear.

League Timid, War Likely.
Cheer Up Britain.
The Fighting B. And O.
Socialism Americanized.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE (Copyright, 1929, King Features Syn, Inc.)

Professor Barnes of Smith College says, there are more causes for war now than there were in 1914 and greater danger of war, and the League of Nations is too timid to do much.

Borah, not Kellogg, wrote the Paris peace pact. A Chicago lawyer, Salmon O. Levinson, invented it. And Barnes agrees with Prof. Borah, of Yale, that the Kellogg pact in cold reality, "contains the first international endorsement and moral recognition of certain forms of recognition of certain forms of war."

The learned Barnes says the next 50 years will decide whether democracy or dictatorship shall survive. That has already been decided 1,000 times. When finally decided, democracy will win. Dictators die, democracy lives on always to bob up.

If you think the League of Nations can do anything you ask yourself why it does not stop Russia's attack on China, with poor China yelling for help.

The answer is that the League is afraid of Russia. Nations in the League would not dare send their men to get killed for China's sake. The men would not go.

They hope this foolish country will do that. But it will not.

But we shall soon be in the World Court with "reservations" that have no force. And the next step will be costly trouble.

You might write your two United States senators what you think about it, if you happen to know their names. But that probably would do no good.

We are destined to get a little more international education. The last lesson cost us ten billions lent, and fifty billions spent ourselves and our one dollar a year patrioters.

We ought to stay out of the League and out of the World Court, which is a League of Nations, and attend to our own business. But we shall not do that.

The British, in comic opera, fashion object to American activities, near the South Pole. Plainly one British editor complains that Byrd went down there "without so much as a by-your-leave." Britain, of course, was supposed to give us leave to visit the Antarctic.

It may comfort our interesting, sometimes preposterous cousin, to know that Byrd's latest flight gives us no claim to the South Pole.

To claim new territory, the discoverer must land, plant the flag of his country on the new soil, claiming it in the name of king or government. Byrd only flew around near the Pole in a circle, and perhaps flew over it. That does not make us owners of the Pole.

However, that is nothing to worry us. In its slow circular motion, the Pole moves around, through the thousands of years, pointing at various stars, which in turn become the Polar Star. In a few thousand years today's Polar regions may be warm, fertile, habitable, as they were ages ago. By that time men, by blood mixture, may have come to form one race and one nation on this small globe, with their fighting ended.

When William the Conqueror went to England he found many nations dividing those islands. Now one nation rules there.

AS IT'S DONE IN THE MOVIES.

They get me in the movies and they say, "We wish to make."

Five hundred feet of film of you. A bit we'll quickly take.

So I dropped in at 10 a. m. according to the plan.

And heard the wise director say "Well you're a punctual man!"

Come in and watch the boys awhile. They're building up a set.

As you can see by looking round we're not quite ready yet.

They turned on lights and turned 'em off. They hustled chairs about.

They wheeled a neighbor's sofa in and then they wheeled it out.

They put a rug upon the floor, they looked at it and said:

"Go out and get another rug, we need a deeper red!"

The cool director shouted: "Wait I've got another hunch!"

So I telephoned to mother that I'd not be home to lunch.

They stripped the set and started in to build the thing anew.

They hung a mirror on a "broad" then thought that wouldn't do.

They trundled in a "dolly" and they shoved the "gobboes" round.

And stood a while to view their work in manner most profound.

The fiddlers played a lively tune to pass the time for me.

At five I phoned to mother that I'd not be home for tea.

The witching hour of midnight came. I stopped a man and said:

"I wish you'd take that picture now. It's time I was in bed."

"We're almost ready," he replied, then viewed the set once more.

"No!" he cried "that will not do. We've got to change that door!"

And I want a fancy flower pot on that table in the hall."

So I telephoned to mother that I'd not be home at all.

Sun sets tonight 4:36. Sun rises tomorrow 7:05.

President Hoover's plan to make prosperity for workmen and material dealers will involve about six billion dollars during 1930 and will give work to a million men. Spending money makes money and the president should get the co-operation from all who can help make and keep times good.

The two old backwoods hunters were sitting over their camp-fire, hundreds of miles from civilization. The conversation turned to cooking. "I bought one of them new cookery books a few years ago," said the first man, "but I couldn't never make head or tail of it."

"Too much fancy work about it, I suppose?" his companion inquired. "Yus," wheezed the first man. "You're right there. Every one o' them recipes began just the same. 'Take a clean dish.' It said. 'That, o' course, settled me at once.'"

A costume called "workettes" is being advocated by women's clubs in this country. This costume is sort of smock and palamas and is to be worn by women in office work. Seems to us that would be even worse than the short skirts to detract from the office duties.

A former governor of Wyoming who by the way is also a woman is being spoken of kindly for the office of United States senator from her state. Well, she certainly can do as well as some of the alleged men who are in the senate from western states. Some terrible messes get into the United States senate.

"No, I'll have to change doctors."

We have often wondered why the alleged Republicans and regular Democrats and occasional Anarchists who rule the U. S. Senate do not get together and start a political party of their own. It may be that there are not enough of them of one opinion to start anything. Anyhow they sure do a lot of damage to these United States in a session or two.

This would be improved a lot if somebody crossed bananas with watch chains, so they can be opened by the zipper method.

We have often thought we would like to hear Democrats from New Orleans have a confab with Democrats from Pennsylvania, especially those who have seen or lived near Independence Hall in Philadelphia. The subject we would like to hear discussed by such a gathering is the history of the United States up to and including the Civil war. Bow-wow! Bow-wow!

In many American towns there are prominent citizens who direct community activities, dominate community thought and rank as great men, whereas their greatness consisted wholly in being fortunate enough to own and keep worthless land in a vicinity where abler men built a city.

There are famous entertainers who get fabulous salaries and appear often in the news not because they have more skill than others, but because promoters picked them from the crowd and gave them the publicity that incubates fame.

Lindbergh, for all his charm and daring, would be forgotten today except for the shrewd tutoring of Ambassador Herrick, the circumstance that made him useful to official Washington, the fact that newspaper men made him a hero.

Last week when Gov. The following paragraph appeared in many newspapers of this country at the end of the list of places that had promised to go along and help for prosperity:

"Among those communities which reported they would have no building of their own next year were Franklin county, Cameron county, Forest county, Punxsutawney, Ebensburg, Terre Hill, Fulton county, Bradford county, Loretto, Adams county, Pike county, Sullivan county, Snyder county and New Castle."

AND THERE ARE STILL A LOT OF FOLKS GOING AROUND BLEATING BECAUSE NO NEW INDUSTRIES ARE BEING BUILT IN NEW CASTLE. THE ABOVE IS THE ANSWER.

Halting Work At Singapore Seen As Move Toward Peace

Curtailment Of Construction Of New Works At British Port Is Described As Parallel With Hoover Action On Cruisers

Significance is seen by many in the action of Great Britain in curtailing work on her giant naval base at Singapore. It is felt to be a genuine peace move, considering the importance to Britain of that port in the Far East, and is associated in many minds with America's reduction of its cruiser program.

"Britain has made what seems to be a sincere effort to promote international good will and keep the spirit of the day in reducing armaments," says the PORT WANE NEWS-GEN-TINEL, "by slowing up construction of new works at her naval base at Singapore. The combative power of the British fleet would be greatly increased by the new base at Singapore, especially as affects the Orient and Australian waters. Completion of that base, according to the original specifications, would give Japan pretty good cause for complaint and would certainly supply some fairly good argument for the claim that the Tokyo government should increase its naval strength to 70 per cent of that of the United States, instead of 60 per cent provided under the terms of the Washington treaty. The Hoover 'yardstick' seems to have won new prestige through Britain's suspension of work on several cruisers as well as on the Singapore base; and an enormous task burden incident to naval construction has been, temporarily, at least, lifted from the shoulders of the people of several nations."

"The decision of the Labor Government to retard construction on the Singapore base," according to the NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE, "is in keeping with that party's tradition. The project to construct a first-class base for the British fleet in the Far East—where none had existed heretofore—was launched in 1921, partly in response to Australian fears of Japan, partly as a result of abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance at Washington, and partly to establish 'equilibrium' with the United States base at Pearl Harbor, in the Hawaiian Islands."

The naval base is directly across the island from the city. It is a clearing in the jungle and lies on the narrow straits of Johore, which separates the island from the mainland of the Malay Peninsula and is scarcely a mile wide. It is so shallow that extensive dredging operations will be necessary before a ship of considerable size can enter. In 1923 the House of Commons voted $55,000,000 for the project, whose total cost is still undetermined, and may in the end be as much as $165,000,000. When the Labor government came into power in 1924 the project was abandoned.

To be revived when the Baldwin government returned to office. "The news that construction is going to be retarded is good, because it means that British taxpayers will have that much relief, and because it shows the faith of the Labor government in the success of the outcome at London in January."

"Ramsay MacDonald has talked a good deal about peace," says the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, "and now he has done something about it. It was announced that work would be discontinued pending the result of the approaching five-power conference. Singapore lies midway between China and India, and is the most important port on the Far Eastern trade route. For this reason the port possesses tremendous strategic value, and the British undertook to make it the Gibraltar of the Orient. That they should voluntarily suspend these plans shows how earnest the MacDonald government is in its policies of peace and disarmament."

THE PROVIDENCE BULLETIN quotes an American authority on the Pacific region, as stating the belief that "a strengthened Singapore would be a steady influence in the Pacific and will be welcomed not only by England but also by Holland and the United States, which have colonial possessions within the area of Singapore's usefulness." The Bulletin argues further: "If England should ever be called on to enforce the sanctions of the League of Nations in the Pacific area, Singapore will be found to be a point of extreme strategic importance. It is to be hoped, of course, that world progress in the direction of peace will make all fortifications unnecessary, but it should not be forgotten that Singapore lies near the most troubled countries on earth today. What will happen in China and India during the next generation no one can predict accurately, but obviously there is a need for facing facts in that region, in spite of the world tendency to place staggering values on theories for world peace. Fortification of the Singapore naval base is just as important to Great Britain as the defense of the Panama Canal to the United States."

"It is, to some extent," asserts the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS, "a British move in the spirit of President Hoover's decision to suspend the cruiser construction program of the United States as an encouragement to the conference idea. The conference will not, of course, give much weight to suspension of activities to which the two governments are committed, but it will be impressed with the willingness of the disposition being to credit him with high purpose. The British reaction will be regarded by both governments with special interest."

The KALAMAZOO GAZETTE concludes, in its discussion of this phase of the matter: "It is comparable to President Hoover's action in halting the construction of some of our 10-600-ton cruisers pending the outcome at London. Mr. Hoover had to bear considerable adverse criticism when he did this and it may be supposed that Mr. MacDonald's decision regarding Singapore will also arouse the wrath of the jingoes. Fortunately, each of these two leaders is assured of strong support from the rank and file of his countrymen."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ARE THERE TWO RELIGIONS?

Bishop Harry Sherman Longley declares that we must rid the people of business and luncheon-club gospel and replace it with the gospel of the Lord.

There may be something in it. Considerable bungling sometimes passes for well-doing in the service club. The humor is frequently forced. Fines are not always the most artistic and painless manner for the extraction of money. The victim is usually forced to smile; but it is a sickly and non-contentious affair. The seams of the face seem to crack under the effort. Much of the service is by proxy. Service is often telephoned and not taken. The undernourished and handicapped are often advertised unpleasantly. All the songs are not hymns of praise.

And yet it will be difficult for the bishop to prove that the Lord did not have something to do with this sort of good fellowship. He ate and drank with sinners. He generally healed or fed folks a day or so in advance of giving them a preaching. He waited until the day after the picnic in the desert where he fed five thousand before he talked to them about the bread of life.

Luncheon-club gospel may be a trifle crude at times; but it has the practical fairly well developed. There is nothing that opens the Eustachian tubes and helps men to hear like giving them something to swallow.

One thing is patent and the church should be happy over it. Religion is creeping out of its kindly den in a brotherly way that is genuinely refreshing in a crass world.

At all events Rotarians say that their gospel is here. It is applying idealism and co-operating with the church. It is not claiming perfection, but it is doing many a kindly deed in a brotherly way that is genuinely refreshing in a crass world.

"Speak O God and I will hear Thee. Let Thy will be done indeed."

Prayer.

The Proof of Love—Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me he will keep my words; and my Father will love him and we will come unto him and make our abode with him. He that loveth me not keepeth not my sayings; and the word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father's which sent me—John 14:23, 24.

When the stock market crashes, the tune changes from "Buy, buy" to "Bye, bye."

Pro Golfers Open Tourney

Fred Morrison, Los Angeles Leads In Qualifying Round With Sensational 136

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 3.—Match play will begin here today in the 1929 professional golfers' association golf championship, with the thirty-two who survived the qualifying rounds participating.

Fred Morrison, Los Angeles, topped the field in the 36 hole qualifying round with a 136, or six strokes under par. Morrison played par golf for the first 18 holes, and on the final 18 he shot the most brilliant competitive golf ever played on the Hillcrest course, taking a 65. He led his nearest opponent, Leo Diegel, defending champion, by four strokes.

The tournament was disrupted yesterday when officers of the association declared ineligible Charles Guest and Harry Cooper, basing their ruling on the fact that neither qualified for the tournament in regional rounds. Later the ban was lifted on Guest, who, as Southern California P. G. A. champion, did not have to complete in the regional round to qualify.

Cooper, however, was ruled out after qualifying with a 146. He claimed an injury prevented him from playing in the New York regional rounds.

Because of the disqualification of Cooper, Walter Hagen, was just able to enter the ranks of the qualifiers. He had all sorts of trouble with his putter, and took a 79 in the afternoon round after shooting a 70 for the first 18 holes.

Two prominent golfers, Ed Dudley and Tom Kerrigan, failed to qualify. Dudley shot a 150, while Kerrigan was two strokes higher.

Youth Confesses Killing Of Girl, Probe Is Started

Paul Hobbs, 19, Released From Ohio Reform School Turned Over To Washington, Pa., Police

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 3.—Turned over to Washington county officials by authorities at the Mansfield, O., reformatory, Paul Hobbs, 19, alias Paul Gerard, is being held for investigation following his alleged confession that he killed Thelma Young, 16, in December of 1927 near her home here.

Hobbs insists that he killed the girl, according to District Attorney Warren S. Buchanan. Discrepancies in his story lead him to doubt it, the story can be verified or denied.

Hobbs was implicated in the case shortly after the murder. At that time he had escaped from the Pittsburgh home for mental patients at Mayview, but a check-up revealed that he was in the institution at the time of the murder. He was returned to the home, escaped again and then was discovered as an inmate of the Ohio Reform school where he had been sent on a charge of larceny.

Merchants Warned Of Shop Lifters Enroute To City

Gang Of Five Men And Three Women Said To Be Enroute To New Castle

Warning was received early yesterday afternoon by the Better Business Bureau of the Retail Merchants Division of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, from the National Retail Dealers association that a gang of shoplifters which has been preying on merchants in various sections of the country is headed in the direction of this city.

There are five men and three women in the gang, who are said to be professionals at the art. They travel in two big machines.

All merchants of the city have been warned to be on the lookout for the gang, through the Better Business Bureau, and they are prepared to place them under arrest here, if caught.

Stock speculation must have been universal. Almost every fellow you meet now has good manners.

Regulate "Y" Pool Temperature For Prevailing Weather

More Heat Needed When Thermometer Hits Zero; Daily Tests Are Made

Keeping Water At Right Temperature For Swimming Is No Little Task

Zero or sub-zero temperatures like New Castle has been experiencing presents no difficulty for the operation of the swimming pool at the Y. M. C. A., where 130 or more men and boys of the city enjoy a refreshing dip as each 24-hour period rolls around.

Heating the 67,000 gallons of water which the pool contains is easily done although attendants are careful not to waste it.

Just recently the pool was drained and the bottom and sides of the basin cleaned, as is the practice every four months. When turned into the pool the first water averages around 51 degrees.

The heated water from the hot water tanks in which is kept the water from the instantaneous boilers, is then turned in after the pool is well filled and by the time it reaches the capacity point again the water registers 78 to 80 degrees. Different temperatures are required in different seasons. Never is the temperature below 72.

Many a man of New Castle, now an accomplished swimmer perhaps, can look back and through a mind's eye picture himself splashing about happily as a beginner at the three-foot end of the pool. Scores of them still swim there, directors say.

Today probably 80 boys enjoy that same privilege and someday will undoubtedly become the same able swimmers as those men have become.

The Y. M. C. A. pool is one of the most attractively kept pools around here and the fact that it is so frequently used is proof enough of its continual popularity.

Water enters the pool from the heated tanks and passes through sand and pebble tanks and then into a tank of alum, from where it pours into the pool. The free-line system is that which is used to remove the impurities from the water.

Recent tests made show that the Y pool water when drained for cleaning, could be used for drinking water, it is so clean. Each morning the attendant cleans around it.

His duty also is to take the temperature of it and to adjust it just as the case may happen to be.

For the smaller boys who use the pool, life guards and swimming teachers are always on hand to act in emergency and to instruct the beginner in the different hand stroke arts.

Grove City Grads Can Teach In France

President Ketler Receives Word That Former Red Tape Is Cut By Ruling

GROVE CITY, Dec. 3.—According to word received by Dr. W. C. Ketler, president of the Grove City college, graduates of this college are now eligible to teach in France if they so desire, without the accustomed red tape that has been necessary before.

Under the new ruling, which is authorized by the French secretary of public instruction, graduates of United States schools in arts and science will be given the French baccalaureate of secondary education.

This completely changes the condition heretofore experienced. It is considered a recognition of the scholastic standards in Grove City college by the local officials.

LEGION MEN FAVORED Word has been received by William Smith, local official of the American Legion of Pennsylvania, to the effect that a special series of automobile license plates will be issued to all members of the American Legion if they desire them. These plates will bear the letters A. L.

ELECT DIRECTORS The annual meeting of the Grove City Country club was held last week and three vacancies in the board of directors were filled by the election of C. G. Harshaw, Dr. Homer B. Henderson and Fred Fithian.

The directors were well pleased with the progress that the club has made during the past year and discussed various items of interest. At a meeting which will be held later, a president will be elected to head the board for the coming year.

Harmony Company Is Given Decision In Bridge Case

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 3.—The state supreme court has over-ruled the contention of the Butler county commissioners that the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler and New Castle Railway Company is responsible for the upkeep of the Allen bridge near Zelienople.

The case has been in controversy for several years, the commissioners finally securing a mandamus on August 2, 1928. The railway company filed a bill in equity in the Butler court on November 14, 1907, and securing the right to operate its cars over the Allen bridge. One of the provisions of the court order was that the traction company should keep the bridge painted and otherwise in ordinary repair.

In the action brought this year the commissioners sought to require the company to make substantial repairs such as placing a new floor on the bridge, and the traction company contended that this was not included in the original contract.

OUTLINES MATTERS TO COME BEFORE STATE CONVENTION HERE

In a foreword to the delegates to the Pennsylvania State Education Association who meet here in convention on December 26 and 27, Charles R. Foster, president of the association, has the following to say: I again call the attention of the members of the Pennsylvania State Education Association to the Annual Convention to be held at New Castle, December 26 and 27. I have called your attention to the special features of the program with the hope that we might have a very large attendance. There are so many matters of importance to be considered in the business sessions of the House of Delegates that I have been extremely anxious to have one hundred per cent of attendance, not only of House of Delegates. The question of financial support of these projects is a vital one. The solution of these problems means much to the future welfare of the Association.

I consider these questions of such vital importance to the Association that it might be necessary to hold a meeting of the House of Delegates on Saturday morning. I would like to have the members of the House of Delegates come prepared to stay over until Saturday morning, if it is found necessary to do so. These questions need to have time for consideration, and we ought not to have any hurried action. In order that there may be plenty of time for discussion and for the solution of these questions, I am urging the members of the House of Delegates to be prepared to stay over for the extra session.

I hope no one will stay away from the Convention because of a feeling that the City of New Castle cannot take care of the housing of delegates. The good people of New Castle will take care of all the delegates who attend, and while it will not be possible to house all in hotels, the very best homes of the City will be thrown open for the use of the members of the Association.

Our program has been well planned and ought to be of very great interest to us all. I hope this Convention will prove a real landmark in the history of the Association.

May I have the pleasure of greeting you at New Castle?
C. R. FOSTER, President.

Santa Claus Will Be Only Star Performer In Annual Play On Christmas Eve

The most popular performance of the season is about to be staged with Santa Claus featured in the leading role.

For hundreds of years, no performer has been able to compare with Santa Claus with popularity. He never fails to be a wow.

December 25, this spectacular Christmas pageant will be presented. The chief act is a marvelous one and only Santa Claus can do it. No one not even Houdini has been able to discover his secret. All that is known is that Santa lives at the North Pole, where he, his wife and other cheerful helpers spend the year in making toys for youngsters the world over. Christmas eve Santa packs a sled full of wonderful toys, jumps from roof to roof, climbs down chimneys and distributes the presents underneath a beautiful lighted Christmas tree.

Of course, he is helped by his remarkable reindeer, who are trained to jump from one roof to another with remarkable agility. The animals wait quietly while Santa Claus goes about his work of taking toys down the chimney.

This star performer plays to the largest group of spectators in the world. They watch with rapt attention.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Who said the old jokes about mothers-in-law were out of date? Hear Julie who writes from St. Louis: "Dear Miss Allard: I wish you'd deliver some of your caustic comments regarding mothers-in-law, real and prospective. I just broke my engagement. I loved the man but couldn't stand his mother's interference even before we were married. He seems to think it was all right so I knew we couldn't get along. It was a heartbreaking experience. There ought to be a law—"

JULIE M.

There is an old belief that all mothers are good mothers, because they have "gone down into the valley" to give children to their husbands. There is also an old tradition that "mother knows best," and she doesn't—always. Sometimes she is merely a biological mother, who wishes she hadn't a thing to do but play bridge. Or she's the kind that wants to boss the ranch with no regard for the rights and feelings of others, liberty and the pursuit of happiness being something that, peculiarly enough, belongs to her alone. Such women always make life a perfect hell for everybody at home.

While they are young there is nothing the children of such mothers can do. Later they become so brow-beaten they don't dare squeak.

A young woman in England broke her engagement last week. The invitations were out, the wedding gifts on display, her gown finished and transportation purchased for the honeymoon. Then the mother-in-law had invited her to spend a week end at her country place.

The girl was told she MUST not use lip rouge. She was ORDERED to wear a large scarf with her evening gowns which were declared too low. The windows were left open in her rooms and she was told that she must leave them that way in spite of rain and cold, because she needed to be hardened.

The girl decided life wasn't any too easy at the best, and she preferred side-stepping any matrimonial alliance with that family.

I saw signs yesterday on the escalators of a department store saying, "Don't let the children sit on the moving stairs." I wondered what the accident was like that prompted the warning.

I think it would be just perfectly lovely, if the mothers-in-law who try to run their son's wives, could be set upon escalator steps to get gently, painfully and comically PINCHED. Rather nice idea, don't you think? (If I'm wrong, write me.) Copyright, 1929, Premier Syndicate, Inc.

State Seniors In Practice Teaching

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 3.—Thirty-nine seniors of the Pennsylvania State College try their hands at teaching for the first time this week. The novices invaded the junior and senior high schools of Johnstown on Monday, replacing 27 of their classmates who spent the first nine weeks of the school year there. The college work is under the direction of Dr. Frank A. Butler, who accompanies the students to Johnstown.

Although starting out as teachers, the first few weeks will be spent as pupils, the Penn State seniors observing the regular faculty of the schools, the master teachers, conduct the classes.

Among those in the group who started to teach at Johnstown Monday, was Charles W. Christopher of New Castle.

McConnell Back In New York City

Man Who Entered Canadian North Woods In Running Suit And Carrying Axe Returns

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Eurt McConnell, middle-aged adventurer, who entered the Canadian wilds, 300 miles north of Quebec on September 25 dressed in a running suit and armed only with a typewriter, a camera and a one-pound axe was back in New York today seemingly none the worse of his experience.

McConnell said that he changed his light attire for a moose-hide suit upon entering the woods and up until Thanksgiving day when he dined with a forest ranger, his diet had consisted solely upon wild game and fish which he caught with handmade implements.

In the last ten days he said the temperature at times reached 32 degrees below zero.

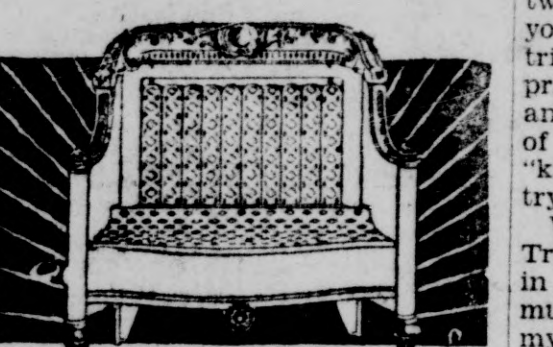

McConnell plans to write a book dealing with his experiences in the woods.

SHARON, Dec. 3.—Samuel Aldenderfer of Greenville, pharmacist in a Sharon drug store, was arraigned before Alderman H. E. ## Mercer Hunters Disregard Weather

Extreme Cold Fails To Prevent Hundreds From Taking To Woods Monday

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 3.—Bad weather did not deter the departure over the week-end of 1,000 Mercer county hunters for central Pennsylvania counties to hunt big game with the opening of the season for 15 days on December 1.

Many hunters lodges are owned by county sportsmen in Forest, Elk, Warren counties. All are filled to capacity for the big game event. Pittsburgh hunters out for the sport passed through here Sunday in a procession northward bound. The Pennsylvania sportsmen will be joined in the sport by hundreds of Ohio hunters who drove through here Saturday and Sunday bound for these same counties.

The counties of Clinton, Cameron, Potter, McKean, Wayne and Clearfield may also be added to this list. The number added today from this county is reported to be the largest total in the history of the sport.

There are 250 head of deer in Mercer county, sportsmen report. They are located for the most part in the eastern townships of Worth, Jackson, Sandy Lake and Wolf Creek. The season is open on them and it is expected that before the two weeks elapse the eligible male animals will be killed.

LEAVE FOR CAMP
The following Mercer men left today for their camp in Clearfield county to engage in big game hunting: George and Kenneth Adams, Sam Valle, John Shaffer and Joe Starr. They will be gone a week. Leaving for a week's big game hunting in Venango county today are Levi Fike, Harry Filson, Leonard and Arthur Ringer and Jack Ellis.

WILL GIVE PLAY
The King's Daughters of the Presbyterian church will give an illustrated Bible play in the church on the evening of December 15.

FOUR CASES REMAIN
There remains today but four of the 30 common pleas cases listed for hearing at the November term. They will be disposed of by Judge J. A. McLaughry without assistance.

CONTAGION HANGS ON
For the week ending Monday there were 161 cases of communicable diseases reported at the office of the health officer here.

Of this total there were 118 cases of measles with 104 of this number reported from Sharon. 24 cases of chickenpox, eight of mumps, five of German measles, four of scarlet fever and one each of diphtheria and pneumonia total the list.

During the week there were 193 released from quarantine.

During November 594 cases of disease were reported at the bureau. Of this total there were 438 cases of measles with 375 of that number coming from Sharon.

Youth Dies Gamely In Electric Chair

Fitchburg, Mass., Youth Dies In Chair At Boston Early This Morning

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Dec. 3.—With a smile of resignation Charles J. Trippi, Jr., twenty-three year old Fitchburg youth, paid with his life in the electric chair at Charlestown states prison today for the slaying during an attempted jail break last year of Frederick Pfleger, known as the "kindest prison guard in the country."

Witnesses to the electrocution said Trippi, the thirty eighth person to die in the electric chair here, kept murmuring "On Lord, Lord Jesus Hear my prayer."

BOSTON SECOND IN INCREASED PRODUCTION

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 3.—Boston stands in second place throughout the nation in the increase in value of manufactured products since 1923 according to figures announced by the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

According to the report the value of manufactured products in Boston's industries totaled $617,972,951 an increase of five and one-half per cent over 1923 the preceding year. ## Many Cities Owe Start In Pop Industry To New Castle

New Castle has been first in a great many enterprises, among which is the manufacture of pop.

The late David Dickey, father of Attorney Thomas Dickey, began the manufacture of soft drinks on a lot now vacant on the corner of Diamond way and South street, over 50 years ago. At that time bottled soft drinks were a novelty in this section of the country.

There were very flavors from which a customer could select, at that time. The complete list consisted of lemon soda, birch, sarsaparilla, strawberry and ginger ale.

In those days the ginger ale extract from which ginger ale was made, had to be imported from Belfast, Ireland. The methods used in the making of the pop would seem very crude to those engaged in this business today. The bottles were corked with the Hutchinson patent stopper—many will remember that pop bottles were opened by pressing the stopper down into the neck of the bottle with the palm of the hand. ## Motors And Planes Hurt German Roads

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Dec. 3.—Because of the steady progress of the motor transportation in automobiles and airplanes passenger traffic on German railways has constantly decreased since 1925 despite simultaneous expansion of the train service.

During 1928 the Reich Railway Co. gained a net income of 1,653,000,000 marks from the passenger service or 91,000,000 marks less than the total expenditure for that division of the service. It is estimated that the balance for this year will be even more unfavorable.

Suggestion By Police Chief

Says Householders Can Put End To Annoyances If They Desire

Housewives of the city can assist the police department and also relieve themselves of a lot of trouble caused them practically every day, said Chief of Police C. C. Horner, today, if they would just refuse to have anything to do with the house to house canvassers, who are apparently becoming more and more numerous.

If the housewives of the community would cease to have anything to do with them, according to Chief Horner, it wouldn't be long until many of them, who are now frequent visitors at the home of people in this city, would cease to make their visits.

The police authorities are doing everything possible to curb peddling and canvassing in the city but find themselves more or less handicapped especially in the cases of those house to house salesmen who are under the protection of inter-state commerce regulations.

Ford Motor Plant Increases Wages

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Wall Street stock tickers today carried the announcement that the Ford Motor company has increased its minimum wage to $7 a day—from $6. This pay raise went into effect December 1.

Ford employees of every grade are today working under the new increased scale. All employees whose wage rate exceeded the minimum wage received an increase in their hourly rate.

The probationary—or "hiring in"—wage, which is paid to apprentice employees for the first two months was raised to $6 a day, from $5.

In addition to these wage increases, the salary roll of the Ford company was raised five per cent, it was announced in Detroit.

This was the third time Ford Motor raised its minimum wage.

It was estimated that on the basis of the October payroll, which registered 144,990 employees, the monthly increase will amount to $1,628,451—or slightly in excess of $19,500,000 a year.

All Ford branches in the United States are included in the new wage policy.

Unidentified Woman Is Found Murdered

(International News Service) ERIE, Pa., Dec. 3.—The body of an unidentified woman, about 40, was found in the snow at the entrance of the Donor Oil company's gasoline station on Walnut Creek Hill, nine miles west of here Monday.

Employees of the company found the body when they reported for work Monday morning.

The woman who wore a wedding ring on her left hand, was clad in a blue calico dress that had been partly torn off. Her shoes and stockings lay nearby. Her coat, blood stained, was discovered 100 feet away near the edge of a ravine.

State troopers said they believed the woman had been attacked and murdered. Search was started for the slayer.

Admits Wrecking, Robbing Train

Rodeo Rider Says His Parents Were Hanged For Cattle Rustling

(International News Service) PAWNEE, OKLA., Dec. 3.—While officers grilled Tom Vernon, former rodeo rider, who says he is the son of Jim Averill and Cattle Kate, hanged for cattle rustling in 1893, the governors of Wyoming and California entered a contest for his extradition to their states for prosecution in connection with the wrecking and robbing of two passenger trains.

Vernon, who was arrested here confessed tonight that he participated in the derailing of a Southern Pacific train near Saugus, Cal., Nov. 20 to rob it. A Union Pacific train was wrecked and robbed last Monday near Cheyenne, Wyo., and Vernon has been identified as the bandit who staged the daring holdup alone.

Vernon, Sheriff Jones said, denied any part in the holdup near Cheyenne, Wyo., and said he would fight extradition to Wyoming on that charge.

He told the sheriff he would not oppose extraditions to California. Train robbery in Wyoming is a capital crime but in California it is punishable by a prison sentence.

In his confession, Vernon told the sheriff he robbed the train because he was out of work and needed money. He had been promised a job by the railroad company he said and "had been disappointed."

Playing a lone hand, Vernon said he wrecked and robbed the train and made his escape without aid.

Vernon was submitted to intensive questioning by Thomas J. Higgins Los Angeles deputy sheriff, Sheriff G. H. Romsa of Cheyenne and Sheriff

Allen Jones of Pawnee, who confronted him with the purported identification of his photographs by passengers of both trains.

The former rodeo rider, railroad fireman and convict, who August 8, was released from the California State Prison at Folsom, was arraigned here on a charge of being a fugitive from justice in connection with the robbery of the Southern Pacific train and his hearing on the charge was set for Dec. 12.

The way to succeed is to begin at the bottom. This is especially true of stock speculation.

Negro Bandit Is Shot To Death

Two Companions Also Negroes Are Captured By Pittsburgh Police After Holdup

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—A negro bandit was shot to death here today and his two companions also negroes were captured by police.

The dead man, Theodore Brown, was shot when he failed to obey the order to stop when the three were accosted by Patrolman R. S. Bigley. Bigley had been called by Max Keyser after the negroes are alleged to have held him up and robbed him of $12. Bigley, Keyser and Patrolman C. J. Nixon then drove a police car through the streets until Keyser saw the men who had robbed him.

Brown attempted to escape and was shot through the back. He was taken to a hospital where he was pronounced dead. James Burrell, negro stopped in his tracks when the shooting began and was captured. Walter Scott 25 was captured shortly after.

The alleged bandits are believed to have been members of a gang of holdup men who have been working extensively in the East End for the past few weeks.

In New York they have stopped censoring plays and the producers have had to begin paying for their advertising again.—The San Bernardino Sun.

Detective Gives Testimony In McManus Case

Says McManus Claimed Innocence Of Rothstein Murder

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
CRIMINAL COURTS BUILDING,
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—"I don't know anything about the shooting of Arnold Rothstein. I'm as innocent of this as you are."

George A. McManus, racetrack bookmaker on trial for the murder of Rothstein, made this statement as he sat in a taxicab at Sixty-first and Lexington avenue more than three weeks after the shooting and talked with Detective Patrick (Paddy) Flood, who met him by arrangement. Flood, a detective in Broadway's white light district for the last twenty years, gave this testimony from the witness stand today.

"I asked McManus who shot Rothstein and he said he didn't know a thing about it," Flood testified. "We (the police) had been searching for him ever since the night of the shooting (Nov. 4, 1928). I had searched all the known places frequented by racetrack men and gamblers but could find no trace of him. Finally met McManus on Nov. 27 at Sixty-first and Lexington. His attorney was with him. They were in a taxicab. I had been called up the night before by Detective John Cordes who told me to be at Sixty-first street the next day."

Refused To Tell.
Flood said he accompanied McManus and his lawyer, James D. C. Murray, to the offices of District Attorney Jacob H. Baton where McManus was grilling. McManus, Hyman Biller, "John Doe" and "Richard Roe" were subsequently indicted for the murder of Rothstein.

Cross examined by Defense Attorney Murray, Detective Flood said he had known Rothstein for five or six years but had spoken to him but twice. Q. When you asked him who shot him he would not tell you. Exactly what did he say?

A. He said: "I won't tell you who shot me. Please don't ask me any more questions."
Flood was excused and former Detective Joseph Daly, a big, red faced, bald headed man with a brisk manner, took the stand. He testified he had been on the police force 26 years but is now retired. He said he had known Rothstein and he knew McManus slightly.

Optimistic Buying Prevails In Market

Keen Stock Market Observers Believe That Conditions Are Going Back To Normal

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Optimistic buying which many competent observers believe to be indicative of a slow but certain return of normal conditions prevailed on the New York stock exchange today.

Virtually all sections of the market spurred to higher positions. The most heartening feature of the day's trading was the reappearance of pools, whose operations have been singularly absent since the recent crash.

Another significant point in the market's activities was the purchase by a big railroad company of key road stocks.

The drop of amusement stocks continued into today's session. Fox, Warner and Loew's all being hit for moderate losses.

Columbia Graphophone, United Corporation, Publishing Service of New Jersey, American and foreign power and several other issues profited most by the reappearance of the pools.

Last Man's Club Organized Here

Twenty Eight Youths Who Enlisted In War In Body Form Club

FIRST GROUP OF KIND TO ENLIST

On April 18, 1917, thirteen days after the United States declared war on Germany, twenty-eight local Italian American boys, marched away to serve for their country, the United States of America in the World War. They continued in the service until November 11, 1919, when the Armistice was signed.

On Sunday evening at the home of Vito Conti, 307 Phillips street, these boys, now men and veterans of one of the worst wars in the history of the world, as far as able met and organized a permanent organization, which is to be a "Last Man's Club" in the strict sense of the word.

A banquet will be held once a year on the anniversary of their departure from this city in 1917 and there will be vacant chairs for the departed members. This will be continued as long as there is one of the original twenty-eight living. A committee was named at this meeting to arrange for the first of these banquets, which will be held April 18, 1930.

Letters mailed out to these twenty-eight boys of 1917 follows in part and explains the purpose of the organization. It follows: "On April 6, 1917, the United States of America declared war on the Empire of Germany, and immediately issued a call on its citizens for volunteers to join the army or navy."

"On April 18, 1917, exactly thirteen days war was declared, twenty-eight Italian boys, credited as being the first group of its kind in the whole country, to enlist in a body, at so early a stage of the war, marched proudly down the main street of New Castle with the National Guard, Troop F, at the head of the parade acting as an escort to this brave band of boys. "These boys marched to the railroad station amid the shouting and flag waving crowd of thousands to embark on what turned out to be at least eighteen months of service until the Armistice was signed November 11, 1919.

"You were fortunate to be one of these brave boys who answered the first call, have you forgotten your buddies that marched with you on that eventful night, eleven years ago? No!

"These same boys are going to meet again for the first time since that night on December 1, 1929 at the home of Vito Conti, 307 Phillips street at 8 p. m. to arrange plans and organize a club consisting of the original twenty-eight boys, with no dues or charges whatsoever. We expect to have a banquet once a year and have a vacant place for our departed buddies until the twenty-eight chairs are all vacant.

"We left New Castle that night with the one thought in our mind: "One for all, all for one."

"Now let's keep the same thought and get together."

The committee in charge of the preliminary arrangements consisted of Vito Conti and Charles Augustine.

Hear Genkinger On Waterways

Lions Club Learns Of Vast Improvements From Proposed River Changes

Advantages to be derived from the proposed improvement of the Beaver, Mahoning, Shenango and Connoquessing rivers so that river barges might ply them, steps for which are now being taken, were outlined at the New Castle Lions Club meeting today by Councilman-elect L. G. Genkinger.

Genkinger is an active booster for the contemplated movement and is well versed with present conditions of the streams and knows well how the improvements would change them.

A fact of interest in the councilman's talk was his statement that a fall of 98 feet exists in the rivers between New Castle and the mouth of the Beaver river. He said it has been established that seven dams will be constructed between these two points, only seven, for the plan of the army engineers who would supervise the work is to dredge the bottom of the rivers, eliminating considerable resetting of bridges.

From present plans the stage of the Shenango here would be nine feet, while in time with the possible addition of new dams the river stage would be increased to 12. As far as water is concerned New Castle would be in A-No. 1 condition. He mentioned the Pymatuning supply as a reserve for the district.

In closing Mr. Genkinger sounded the need for navigable rivers and declared this the only hope for cities situated off the main waterways like New Castle. Industries demand waterways over which their freight can be transported, he said.

Mr. Genkinger forecasted a new industrial era would begin locally on the completion of the river improvements.

NEW PIPE LINE COMPANY MAY BE ORGANIZED

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—Application was made today to the public service commission for the incorporation of the Susquehanna Pipe Line Company, which expects to expend $3,000,000 in building lines for the transportation of petroleum from the western part of the state to the cities in the East.

The capital stock of the company is $25,000 and this will be increased to $2,000,000 when work starts. The additional millions will be raised through a bond issue.

The incorporators are J. Howard Pew and J. Howard Pew Jr. of Ardmore, and Frank Cross of Merchantville, N. J.

The company's main line would extend from Linwood, Delaware county, where the chief pumping activities of the company will be carried out, to Malvern, Lancaster, Harrisburg, Hollidaysburg, Johnstown, Greensburg and Beaver Falls to the Ohio state line.

Another line would be built from Coatesville to Reading, Hazleton, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and to the New York state line. Auxiliary lines would be constructed from Reading to Allentown and from Elizabethtown to York. The Linwood-Harrisburg line would be the first built and then one from York to Reading would be constructed, this work costing $1,300,000.

Would Wield Stick In Settlement Of Sino-Chinese Row

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 3.—Great Britain today was in full accord with the United States in using the medium of the Kellogg-Briand pact for the settlement of differences between Russia and China in Manchuria.

Japan, however, feels that it would be inadvisable for her to take any hand in contemplated reference to curb hostilities in Manchuria at this time, dispatches from Tokyo stated.

In official quarters at Tokyo it was apparent that it was felt the present situation in Manchuria had not reached a stage far advanced enough to warrant action by outside powers.

It is believed here that Japan's hesitancy is due largely to the fact that her proximity to China might draw her into the Manchurian situation unless she followed a strict "hands off" policy.

Twenty-Million Yearly Increase Added To Big Ford Company Payroll

Third Time That Ford Motor Company Has Increased Minimum Wage Scale Of Workers

Salary Increases Also Announced; New Wage Scale Went Into Effect On Monday

(International News Service) DETROIT, Dec. 3.—Twenty million dollars a year payroll increase, with a $7 a day minimum for all Ford workers in the United States, was announced by the Ford Motor Company today.

The $7 a day minimum replacing the old $6 a day minimum, affects 24,320 Ford workers.

An additional 113,643 workers are affected by an increase of five cents an hour in the wage of those who work on an hourly basis.

All Workers Affected The increases apply to all Ford workers in the United States.

The five-cent increase in the hourly wage means the minimum for this class of workers will be $7.30 for an eight-hour day.

The increases became effective December 1.

Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, announced that "it is our belief that in making these increases we are increasing the buying power of our workers in Detroit and elsewhere."

Mr. Ford pointed out that the company was not only increasing wages, but had cut the cost of their product.

This, he said, has been made possible by better management.

In his formal statement, he declared:

"Ford employees of every grade began working an increased wage scale Monday. The Ford minimum wage was increased from $6 a day to $7. All employees whose wage rate exceeded the minimum wage, received an increase in their hourly rate. A probationary, or hiring in wage, which is paid to apprentice employees for the first two months, was raised from $5 a day to $6 a day.

Salary Payroll Increased "In addition to these wage increases, the salary payroll was raised 5 per cent.

"It is the third time the Ford Motor Company has raised its minimum wage on the basis of the October payroll which registered 144,990 employees; the monthly increase will amount to $1,628,451, or slightly in excess of $19,500,000 a year.

"All Ford branches and plants in the United States are included. Employees raised from $6 to $7 a day number 24,320 on the basis of the October payroll.

"Employees to the number of 113,643 have received increases which bring their daily wage between $7.20 and $10 a day. Of this number, 27,410 men go to $7.20 a day, 33,396 men go to $7.60 a day, 22,971 men go to $8 a day and 12,327 men go to $8.40 a day.

"Between that rate and $10 a day, 17,539 men are affected.

Auto Hits Pole; Woman Injured

Accident Occurs At Butler Avenue And East Washington Street

Mrs. Anna Horvath, of Wilson avenue, was injured to some extent Monday, when the automobile driven by her husband, Joseph Horvath, skidded into a Harmony line pole at the southwest corner of Washington street and Butler avenue, as he was trying to avoid a collision with another car. The Harmony line car was broken off.

Mr. Horvath was traveling east on East Washington street at Butler avenue, following the machine of Frank Stuckey, Jr., of Creighton Pa., when the latter slowed down to determine the route he wanted to take.

Mr. Horvath gave the other car the horn and went to pass to its left and when he was almost past the Stuckey machine, it turned to the left to go east on Butler avenue.

Horvath turned out to avoid the Stuckey car and discovered a car coming west on Butler avenue. He stepped on the gas to get out of the way of this second machine and his machine skidded around and hit and broke off the telephone pole.

Find Sharon Man Dead In His Room In Pittsburgh Hotel; Had Taken Poison

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Letters addressed to his mother and to a friend found with six empty vials near the body of early Delacey Addis, 38, of Sharon, Pa., today lead deputy coroners to believe that the man had committed suicide.

The man's body was found last night in his room at the Roosevelt hotel here. He had registered there Sunday.

The letters to his mother, Mrs. Josephine Addis, Sharon, asked forgiveness and indicated that he was "unhappy and tired of life," according to morgue attaches. Addis was an interior decorator.

Bare Knees Is Foolish Practice Says Dr. Appel

"Fashion is a tyrant. Its mandates are explicitly obeyed throughout the world even though pain and great suffering are connected with them. For instance, today in Africa certain tribes slit lips and insert large wooden disks creating monstrosities as viewed by modern civilization, and representing beauty for the exponents of this painful custom," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health, today.

"Not long ago, China bound the feet of millions of its aristocratic girls to create the deformed, misshapen and crippled extremities which marked their unfortunate possessor as of the elect. Again, tattooing of the entire body is even yet practiced with terrific suffering to the subject by some of the tribes in the South Sea Islands. And so the story goes.

"But the aborigines and backward races have no monopoly in this business. As late as two generations ago in this country women's dress reached its highest expression of discomfort and inconvenience; and waist constriction even much later than that frequently caused pain, suffering and actual illness—all because fashion dictated it.

"Fortunately today in civilized lands fashion has become more sensible. An alliance has apparently been made with nature. It follows that instead of disregarding natural rules fashion goes along with them to obvious benefit of everyone. But even here there are distinct limitations which for many seem to have been overlooked.

"Take, for example, the exposure attitude of many parents with respect to their young children during the winter season. They will wrap the child in furs from the chin down to the knees at which point protection ends and bare legs, being fashionable, begin. It is all right to argue that the children are hardened to such exposure. But where is the sense to it?

"On the other hand, it is quite safe to say that hundreds of little people suffer actual discomfort from such a foolish practice and in many cases

er put the wee one's hands up and made it go through the acts of worship in spite of its terror. Then I realized why the Chinese were confirmed idolaters. They are taught to worship idols even when babies. And I saw that our hope of winning China was not in preaching to the priests, though that must not be neglected; but in getting the children. So, as soon as I could talk Chinese and a missionary lady suggested starting a Ragged Sunday School for the street kiddies not far from her home, I was ready to help. She asked the dayman if we could have it in his shed. He consented, so we began our first Ragged Sunday School. Crowds of little people came. How they did delight to sing, 'Yasu-al-ngo' (Jesus Loves Me). Many of that cow-shed Sunday school came to love Jesus and became useful members in the church.

When I came to Shanghai and went about preaching, children aplenty were on the streets. I remembered that Sunday school and wanted these 'yaller' people to have the same joys. I rented a room and started a Sunday school, with no pupils! I stood inside and sang, 'Jesus Loves Me'. Children came to the door. I was glad, and said 'Come in'. The kiddies ran for home as fast as their legs could carry them! They had heard that foreigners use eyes and hearts of Chinese children to make medicine for western children. I sang again and big people came to listen. The wee ones took courage and peeped in. I talked of Jesus and His love for little and big people, and gave the kiddies cards, asked them to come again and bring their friends and I would give them all cards. Next Sunday 10 came and the next 20, then 40, and soon my small room was full of 'Brownies'. They learned to sing and liked to sing, and we literally sang the gospel into their hearts. Now Jesus has lots of little friends in Shanghai. They do not run from me any more, but run to me shouting, 'Jesus man coming!' and grasping my fingers lead me to the Sunday school.

I wish you could know my wee Brownies. I am sure you would love them as I do. Every Christmas I try to give them a jolly time, friends at home sending me money for their treat. Christmas is not far away and I am already getting ready for the glad day. No Chinese kiddies will hang up their stockings, and no home will have a Christmas tree. Christmas will be cold and bare for millions of kiddies; but I like to bring brightness into the lives of more than 800 of my Brownies. They will delight as much in some foolish little toy as some grownups at home do in a motor car. When they receive the gifts their eyes sparkle and they say a sweet 'Zai-zai Noong'—thank, thank you. It pays in joy of giving and who knows how many little hearts will be opened to God's big gift through these little gifts.

May you all have a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. Yours in Christ's glad service, REV. H. G. C. HALLOCK.

Out In Space
By S. S. MYERS
"A few evenings ago a friend and I were discussing a magazine in which the writer, in describing the distances of the stars used the Light Year as the unit of measurement—that is, the distance light will travel in a year, speeding at the rate of 186,000 miles a second. He says that some of the visible stars are millions of light years from the earth. We decided that it is beyond the power of human comprehension to grasp such distances. We certainly cannot do it in miles. Is it possible for the mind of man to comprehend the immensity of the universe?" (G. W. J.)
Sir James Jeans, an English astronomer, has recently written a book under the title "The Universe About Us" which deals with this subject in a very interesting manner. The only way to get any idea of such distances is through comparison on a fixed scale.
Suppose we take the orbit that the earth makes in going around the sun—a distance of 800 million miles. The diameter of this orbit is 186,866,500 miles. Now, let us take a blackboard a mile square and place upon it a dot one sixteenth of an inch in diameter to represent the earth's orbit around the sun. In order to get the relative distance of Alpha Centauri, the nearest fixed star, or sun, we will have to measure off 225 yards from the dot representing the earth's orbit. Continuing on this scale to Sirius, the next nearest star, we will have to measure off 450 yards.
If we go farther than this we will have to enlarge our blackboard. The north pole star is 5,150 yards away. Thus we may go on measuring the distances of the various stars and enlarging our blackboard until it is 7,000 miles square before we come to the farthest cluster of stars, and we are still inside of our universe; we have not yet reached the Milky way. But our blackboard would cover the entire United States and then some. After we have finished our universe and have all of the stars charted according to this scale we must travel about 30,000 miles before we reach the nearest outlying Island Universe. If we maintain this scale of measurement representing all of the stars as far as we can see into space with the telescope, our blackboard will extend about four million miles in every direction. How much farther we might go we do not know—all we know is that we have so far charted represents only a fraction of the works of creation.
On the other hand the emptiness of space is appalling! If we were to take a room one hundred feet square and one hundred feet from floor to ceiling and empty it of everything except six small specks of floating dust the room would still be more crowded with dust than space is with the stars. Continuing on the scale of our chart the average distance between stars in our universe is about eighty miles. That put into earth miles would be 16,470,400,000 miles, which is the distance between our sun and Alpha Centauri. Sirius is a little over twice that distance from us. So you see how futile it is to attempt to measure astronomical distances in miles. It simply staggers the human mind.
And we are just as much amazed when we take the microscope and look the other way—down to the smallest particle of creation where we find the atom—a miniature solar system with millions of electrons revolving around the nucleus and not any more crowded than the stars in the universe.

Nearly $35,000,000 Will Be Paid Out In State Christmas Savings Funds

(From News Bureau (State Capital))
HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 3.—State banks and trust companies are preparing to mail the checks for distributing the 1929 Christmas fund money among an army of depositors. Preliminary estimates made from figures submitted to the banking department indicate that between $30,000,000 and $35,000,000 will be sent out within the next 10 days.

Both the amount of money being distributed and the number of persons getting the money probably will not run as high as last year. At the time of the last state bank call the various financial institutions reported 709,762 persons in the various Christmas fund clubs. Few of that number are expected to drop out between the time of the call in October until the time for sending out the checks early in December.

The average amount of the Christmas fund check during the last three years is $49.24. On that basis with nearly 710,000 subscribers, the amount to be paid out this year will approximate $34,900,000. That sum is exclusive of what will be paid out by the national banks having such clubs and also corporations that maintain employee funds.

In 1928 there were 739,668 persons who received Christmas fund checks from state banks and trust companies. The total amount paid in that period was $37,103,617.49. If the preliminary estimates prove correct this will be the first time in years that the amount distributed and the number of subscribers has not shown an increase over the previous 12 months. The 1927 total was $35,749,412.74 and 727,161 persons, while the year before $33,041,535.57 was paid to 676,642 subscribers.

INTEREST HIGH IN INDOOR AIRPLANE MEET OF SCOUTS

Seven Rules For Entrants Set Forth; Contest Friday At Auditorium

Seven outstanding rules have been drawn up and must be conformed with by the Boy Scouts of Lawrence county who enter the first indoor airplane contest, being held under the auspices of the Lawrence County council next Friday night in the Carnegie auditorium.

These rules of procedure cover the entire contest and are as follows: All planes must be made by the scout with materials furnished by the scout. Knock-down planes assembled by the scout will not be permitted. There will be just two divisions: (1) Planes that fly, and (2) planes for exhibition purposes only.

The plane that stays in the air the longest, gets first place and the plane that is the best constructed, in the exhibition class, will receive first place in that class.

First and second places only will be given in the airplane contest. All boys who wish to enter the contest must register their name at scout headquarters before the contest for if they don't their planes will not be accepted when entered on December 8. Scouts who engage in this contest will be permitted to enter the spring contest at the Bradford airport next spring, competing at that time for a grand prize. Prizes will also be offered the winners here next Friday.

Brisk Buying In Stock Market

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Speculative stocks moved up the price scale behind a brisk buying movement today, signalling the return of a number of the pools to active work, the squeezing of the shorts and the confident buying of industrial stocks by investors under the inspiration of the president's message.

The coppers turned upward sharply when prominent leaders in the metal trades denied that any price-cutting was in the wind at this time, or even over the year end. Anaconda sold above 79 for a 3 point rally; Kennecott jumped 3 to 61; American Smelting 2 1/2 to 74.

Standard gas led a brilliant advance in the utilities, with a 6 point jump to 118. American and foreign power sold up 4 1/2 to 78 1/2 and new gains of 1 to 3 points were scored by Columbia gas. Consolidated gas, public service of New Jersey, United Corps and utilities power and light. The oils refused to respond to the widespread boosting and tipping indulged in by Wall street brokerage houses, and the motors moved on leaden feet to only fractionally higher levels.

Crippled Woman Taken To Court For Testimony

Paralytic Sufferer Is Carried In To Courtroom To Act As Witness For Defense

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Annie Bird Hornby, 88 and a paralytic was carried into criminal court here today to testify for the woman who shot and killed her grandson's wife.

The aged woman was the only eye witness to the shooting of Mrs. Sarah Hornby by Ida Mae Glimmer of Clairton last August.

Mrs. Hornby's testimony given in court as visiting Judge M. Work Fleming of Centre county left the bench to stand near and catch the faint sound of her voice, corroborated the testimony given by Mrs. Glimmer yesterday in her own defense. Mrs. Glimmer fired only after Mrs. Hornby had cornered her in a room and threatened to "knock out her brains" the aged witness said.

Mrs. Glimmer is pleading self-defense at the trial in which she is charged with murder. The case is expected to go to the jury late today.

Another reason for divorce is the lack of fun in working for a boss who annoys your delight in duty a sufficient reward.

Other Senators Spent More Than Vare Says Counsel

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Both Republican and Democratic candidates in some states spent more money in the 1928 election per voting district, per vote and per capita than the Vare ticket cost in Pennsylvania's 1926 election, Francis S. Brown chief counsel for Senator-Elect William S. Vare, barred from his seat because of irregularities in his campaign said today.

Brown's revelation of Vare's defense carried the inference that a score of senators should be unseated on slush fund charges if Vare is finally refused admittance to the senate.

CAPRONI'S BUILD HUGE BOMBING PLANE

(International News Service)
ROME, Dec. 3.—A new 6-engine bombing plane, reported the greatest of its kind in the world, has been built at the Caproni factories in Italy. It is "all-Italian" in plan, construction and engines.

It weighs 15 tons, with a "pay load" of 20 tons. It is equipped with six Italian "Asso" engines of 1,000 horsepower each, which can develop a maximum speed of 130 miles an hour and a minimum speed of 30 miles per hour.

The plane can carry bombs to the weight of 17,640 pounds.

RED CIRCLE

COFFEE....is not only freshly roasted
...it's freshly ground

Red Circle Coffee has every known advantage in mellowness and flavor. It is blended from fine Coffees, selected, dried, and shipped from South America under A&P supervision; then roasted in a large centrally located plant near your home.

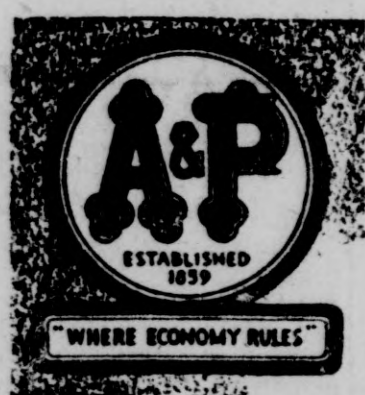

After roasting, Red Circle is rushed by "Time-Control Handling" to your local store before the rich flavor has a chance to escape. Red Circle is ground after you buy it; for, like mint, coffee when crushed yields its flavor quickly—and coffee ground far in advance cannot contain its full strength.

Red Circle is always priced far below its relative value. Have your A&P store manager grind a pound for you to suit your method of coffee making, whether "percolator," "tricolator" or just the plain old-fashioned coffee pot.

Red Circle should be your Coffee—freshly roasted, freshly ground.

Cascade Park Is Sleeping Beneath Blanket Of Snow

Underneath a blanket of white, glistening snow, Cascade Park, long noted as one of the most beautiful parks within a radius of hundreds of miles, is sleeping throughout the winter months.

BILIOUSNESS

To correct a disordered stomach and assist proper digestion of food, take the genuine

HUSBAND'S MAGNESIA
Famous Since 1837. All Druggists.

An amusement park presents in winter, an extremely desolate appearance. No doubt this is so on account of the contrast or an unconscious mental comparison with the color and activity of the summer season. Cascade Park was a riot of color a few months ago, but now it is white. Snow everywhere—on ground, on the trees, on the roofs of the buildings, on the gorge, tumble bug—everything is white. It almost seems as though the spirit of play itself were weighted down beneath this white covering, but it is after all, only being preserved for another gay season.

Gone are sounds of music and merry-making, and in its place a solemn quietude. But the somberness is in itself a thing of loveliness. Down in the grove a few hardy sparrows flitter to and fro. Robins and black birds have left for southern points—they are only summer boarders at Cascade Park.

The lake is frozen over solid and is picturesque sight, with snow blowing languidly over the ice. The noisy and joyous creek, the fascinating Cascade Falls—in winter as well as in the summer months, Cascade Park has a luring power of beauty. After a snowfall, the park looks much like a fairyland of unreality.

It seems, like Sleeping Beauty, to be awaiting the touch of Springtime.

WHERE TRUTH LIES

A Chicago judge, dismissing a charge of perjury brought against a woman says there are cases where no gentlemen can force a lady to tell the truth. Churchmen, experts on ethics and others, are inclined to agree with the judge. The case apparently involved the lady's reputation.

There is little defense for lying and there is little defense for telling the truth, when silence would be kinder. There is always truth somewhere, and it is not to be tampered with. But there is also the good taste and the generosity of silence.

We of the world do not live all the time inside the trenches of either right or wrong. Much of our lives we spend out, in no man's land meeting situations as they come, as best we can.

FILLING THE WOOD BOX

Says the Nomad in the Boston Transcript: "Any boy who has bent his back over a saw horse, and strained all his muscles with great armfuls of wood for domestic consumption winter after winter, throughout the period, say, from his tenth to his seventeenth year, has laid a foundation for persistence in a pre-eminent duty which will make him an industrious citizen all the rest of his life."

It's a source of unhappiness in our youth that we can't know what is good for us. Few boys who carried in wood night after night, to say nothing of those who had to split it, looked upon their experience as having any value. It was drudgery. And yet, today, the question is raised whether the modern boy has many things as effective for the building of character as the old-fashioned wood box.

Let's not say today's boys are not as good as yesterday's, but they have to arrive at characters by a different method.

EXPRESSION

Consciously or unconsciously, the thing we are most after is some kind of self-expression. We want, somehow, to do the things we want to do. Some people interpret that urge as meaning that it is natural and normal for them to do everything they desire to do with very little restriction. But self-expression does not mean the right to do everything one wishes to do. Expression can come through many channels. It is our business to find the channel which in every way is the best for ourselves and best for society as a whole.

Real Winter For December Says Old Weather Seer

KITTANNING, Pa., Dec. 3.—Lee Wolfe, weather seer and caterpillar observer of Garretts Run, has promised that December will be a month of real winter weather. Plenty of snow and ice with gales of wind and sleet storms are promised by Mr. Wolfe and his caterpillars.

The latter part of the month will be exceedingly stormy, according to the observer, and severe blasts will sweep the section at that time.

The fuzz on the caterpillars is particularly long and dark, toward the front of the crawlers. This is also taken to mean that the hardest part of the winter will come during its first few months.

Reward Is Offered For Chicken Thief

WHEATLAND, Pa., Dec. 3.—A reward of $100 has been offered for the shooting of a chicken thief. County Detective Samuel Leyschok informed E. A. Sieg, superintendent of the Central Christian Sabbath school, who resides on a farm adjoining Wheatland. Sieg's chicken coops were visited last week and 29 choice fowls were stolen. Presumably the same parties again visited the Sieg farm for a second helping. Sieg was aroused and hired a shot in the direction of the invaders. Tracks in the snow showed a hasty scramble but that no one was shot.

President Hoover's First Annual Message Given To Congress

Conditions Good In U. S. Reports Chief Executive

Law Enforcement Still Biggest Problem Before People Of Nation

TARIFF POSITION AGAIN REITERATED

Country Over Crisis Brought On By Stock Market Crash, He Says

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3.—President Herbert Hoover presented his first message to congress at the opening of the session today. The message read in both branches of congress, was as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The constitution requires that the president "shall, from time to time, give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient." In complying with that requirement I wish to emphasize that during the past year the nation has continued to grow in strength; our people have advanced in comfort; we have gained in knowledge; the education of youth has been more widely spread; moral and spiritual forces have been maintained; peace has become more assured. The problems with which we are confronted are the problems of growth and of progress. In their solution we have to determine the facts, to develop the relative importance to be assigned to such facts, to formulate a common judgment upon them, and to realize solutions in a spirit of conciliation.

Foreign Relations.

We are not only at peace with all the world, but the foundations for future peace are being steadily strengthened. To promote peace is our long-established policy. Through the Kellogg-Briand pact a great moral standard has been raised in the world. By it 34 nations have covenanted to renounce war and to settle all disputes by pacific means. Through it a new world order has been inaugurated which has profoundly affected the foreign policies of nations. Since its inauguration we have initiated new efforts not only in the organization of the machinery of peace but also to eliminate dangerous forces which produce controversies amongst nations.

In January, 1926, the senate gave its consent to adherence to The Covenant of International Justice with certain reservations. In September of this year the statute establishing the court has, by the action of the nations signatory, been amended to meet the senate's reservation and to go even beyond these reservations to make clear that the court is a true international court of justice. I believe it will be clear to everyone that no controversy or question in which this country has or claims an interest can be passed on by the court without our consent at the time the question arises. The doubt about advisory opinions has been completely safeguarded. Our adherence to the International Court is, as now constituted, not the slightest step toward entry into the League of Nations. As I have before indicated, I shall direct that our signature be affixed to the protocol of adherence and shall urge for the approval of the senate with a special message at some time when it is convenient to deal with it.

In the hope of reducing friction in the world, and with the desire that we may reduce the great economic burdens of naval armament, we have joined in conference with Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to be held in London in January to consider the further limitation and reduction of naval arms. We hold high hopes that this success may attend this effort.

At the beginning of the present administration the neighboring state of Mexico was beset with domestic insurrection. We maintained the embargo upon the shipment of arms to Mexico but permitted the duly constituted government to procure supplies from our surplus war stocks. Fortunately, the Mexican government by its own strength successfully withstood the insurrection with slight damage. Opportunity of further peaceful development is given to that country. At the request of the Mexican government, we have since lifted the embargo on shipment of arms altogether. The two governments have taken further steps to promote friendly relations and to solve our differences. Conventions prolonging for a period of two years the life of the general and special claims commissions have been concluded.

In South America we are proud to have had part in the settlement of the long-standing dispute between Chile and Peru in the disposal of the question of Tacna-Arica.

The work of the commission of inquiry and conciliation between Bolivia and Paraguay, in which a representative of this government participated, has successfully terminated an incident which seemed to threaten war. The proposed plan for final settlement as suggested by the neutral government is still under consideration.

This government has continued its efforts to act as a mediator in boundary difficulties between Guatemala and Honduras.

A further instance of profound importance in establishing good will was the inauguration of regular air mail service between the United States and Caribbean, Central American and South American countries.

We still have marines on foreign soil—in Nicaragua, Haiti and China. In the large sense we do not wish to be represented abroad in such manner. About 1,600 marines remain in Nicaragua at the urgent request of that government and the leaders of all parties pending the training of a domestic constabulary capable of insuring tranquility. We have already reduced these forces materially and we are anxious to withdraw them further as the situation warrants. In Haiti we have about 700 marines, but it is a much more difficult problem, the solution of which is still obscure. If congress approves, I shall dispatch a commission to Haiti to review and study the matter in an endeavor to arrive at some more definite policy than at present. Our forces in China constitute 2,605 men, which we hope also further to reduce to the normal legation guard.

It is my desire to establish more firmly our understanding and relationships with the Latin American countries by strengthening the diplomatic missions of those countries. It is my hope to secure men long experienced in our diplomatic service, who speak the languages of the people to whom they are accredited, as chiefs of our diplomatic missions in these states. I shall send to the senate at an early date the nominations of several such men.

The congress has by numerous wise and foresighted acts in the past few years greatly strengthened the character of our representation abroad. It has made liberal provision for the establishment of suitable quarters for our foreign states in the different countries. In order, however, that we may further develop the most effective force in this, one of the most responsible functions of our government, I shall recommend to the congress more liberal appropriations for the work of the state department. I know of no expenditure of public money from which a greater economic and moral return can come to us than by assuring the most effective conduct of our foreign relations.

National Defense.

To preserve internal order and freedom from encroachment is the first purpose of government. Our army and navy are being maintained in a most efficient state under officers of high intelligence and zeal. The extent and expansion of their numbers and equipment as at present authorized are ample for this purpose.

We can well be deeply concerned however, at the growing expense. From a total expenditure for national defense purposes in 1914 of $267,000,000, it naturally rose with the great war, but receded again to $612,000,000 in 1924, when again it began to rise until during the current fiscal year the expenditures will reach to over $750,000,000, excluding all civilian services and expenditures. Programs now authorized will carry it to still larger figures in future years. While the remuneration paid to our soldiers and sailors is justly at a higher rate than that of any other country in the world, and while the cost of subsistence is higher, yet, the cost of our military establishment is one of those of the most highly militarized nations of the world.

Upon the conference shortly to be held in London will depend such moderation as we can make in naval expenditure. If we shall be compelled to undertake the naval construction implied in the Washington armistice, as well as other construction which would appear to be necessary if no international agreement can be completed, we shall be committed during the next six years to a construction expenditure of upward of $1,200,000,000 besides the necessary further increase in costs for annual upkeep.

After 1914 the various army contingents necessarily expanded to the end of the great war and then receded to the low point in 1924, when expansion again began. In 1914 the officers and men in our regular forces, both army and navy, were about 164,000. In 1924 there were about 256,000. In 1929 there were about 250,000. Our citizens' army, however, including the National Guard and other forms of reserves, increase these totals up to about 299,000 in 1914, about 672,000 in 1924 and about 728,000 in 1929.

Under the Kellogg pact we have undertaken never to use war as an instrument of national policy. We have, therefore, undertaken by covenant to use these equipments solely for defensive purposes. From a defense point of view our forces should be proportioned to national need and should therefore, in some extent, be modified by the prospects of peace, which were never brighter than today.

It should be borne in mind that the improvement in the National Guard by federal support begun in 1920 has definitely strengthened our national security by rendering them far more effective than ever heretofore. The advance of aviation has also greatly increased our effectiveness in defense. In addition to the very large program of air forces which we are maintaining in the army and navy, there has been an enormous growth of commercial aviation. This has provided unanticipated reserves in manufacturing capacity and in industrial and air personnel, which again adds to our security.

I recommend that congress give earnest consideration to the possibilities of prudent action which will give relief from our continuously mounting expenditures.

The finances of the government are in sound condition. I shall submit the detailed evidences and the usual recommendations in the special budget message. I may, however, summarize our position. The public debt on June 30 this year stood at $16,931,000,000, compared to the maximum in August, 1919, of $26,596,000,000. Since June 30 it has been reduced by a further $238,000,000. In the budget to be submitted the total appropriations recommended for the fiscal year 1931 are $3,330,445,231, as compared to $3,976,141,651 for the present fiscal year. The present fiscal year, however, includes $150,000,000 for the Federal Farm board, as to which no estimate can as yet be determined for 1931.

Owing to the many necessary burdens assumed by congress in previous years which now require large outlays, it is with extreme difficulty that we shall be able to keep the expenditures for the next fiscal year within the bounds of the present year. Economies in many directions have permitted some accommodation of pressing needs, net result being an increase of about one-tenth of 1 per cent above the present fiscal year. We can not fail to recognize the obligations of the government in support of the public welfare but we must concurrently bear in mind the burden of taxes and strive to find relief through some tax reduction. Every dollar so returned fertilizes the soil of prosperity.

Tax Reduction.

The estimate submitted to me by the secretary of the treasury and the budget director indicates that the government will close the fiscal year 1930 with a surplus of about $225,000,000 and the fiscal year 1931 with a surplus of about $123,000,000. Owing to the unusual circumstances, it has been extremely difficult to estimate future revenues with accuracy.

I believe, however, that the congress will be fully justified in giving the benefits of the prospective surpluses to the taxpayers, particularly as ample provision for debt reduction has been made in both years through the form of debt retirement from ordinary revenues. In view of the uncertainty in respect of future revenues and the comparatively small size of the indicated surplus in 1931, relief should take the form of a provisional revision of tax rates.

I recommend that the normal income tax rates applicable to the incomes of individuals for the calendar year 1929 be reduced from 5, 3 and 1½ per cent to 4, 2 and ½ per cent, and that the tax on the income of corporations for the calendar year 1929 be reduced from 12 to 11 per cent. It is estimated that this will result in a reduction of $160,000,000 in income taxes to be collected during the calendar year 1930. The loss in revenue will be divided approximately equally between the fiscal years 1930 and 1931. Such a program will give a measure of tax relief to the maximum number of taxpayers, with relatively larger benefits to the taxpayers with small or moderate incomes.

Foreign Debts.

The past year has brought us near to completion of settlements of the indebtedness of foreign governments to the United States.

The act of congress approved February 4, 1929, authorized the settlement with the government of Austria along lines similar to the terms of settlement offered by that government to its other relief creditors. No agreement has yet been concluded with that government, but the form of agreement has been settled and its execution only awaits the government of Austria securing the assent by all the other relief creditors of the terms offered. The act of congress approved February 14, 1929, authorized the settlement with the government of Greece, and an agreement was concluded in August, 1929.

The government of France ratified the agreement with us on July 27, 1929. This agreement will shortly be before the congress and I recommend its approval.

The only indebtedness of foreign governments to the United States now unsettled is that of Russia and Armenia.

During the past year a committee of distinguished experts under American leadership submitted a plan looking to a revision of claims against Germany by the various governments. The United States denied itself any participation in the war settlement of general reparations and our claims are comparatively small in amount. They arise from costs of the army of occupation and claims of our private citizens for losses under awards from the Mixed Claims Commission established under agreement with the German government. In finding a basis for settlement it was necessary for the committee of experts to request all the governments concerned to make some contribution to the adjustment and we have felt that we should share a proportion of the concessions made.

The state and treasury departments will be in a position shortly to submit for your consideration a draft of an agreement to be executed between the United States and Germany providing for the payment of these revised amounts. A more extensive statement will be submitted at that time.

The total amount of indebtedness of the various countries to the United States now funded is $11,579,465,885. This sum was in effect provided by the issue of United States government bonds to our own people. The payments of the various governments to us on account of principal and interest for 1929 are estimated at a total of about $238,000,000, for 1931 at about $236,000,000 and for 1932 at about $246,000,000. The measure of American compromise in these settlements may be appreciated from the fact that our taxpayers are called up to find annually about $475,000,000 in interest and in addition to reimburse the past few years' loans borrowed by the United States government for these purposes.

Alien Enemy Property.

The wise determination that this property seized in war should be returned to its owners has proceeded with considerable rapidity. Of the original seized cash and property valued at a total of about $625,000,000, all but $111,566,700 has been returned. Most of the remainder should be disposed of during the next year.

General Economic Situation.

The country has enjoyed a large degree of prosperity and sound progress and distribution and consequent advancement in standards of living. Progress has, of course, been unequal among industries, and some, such as coal, lumber, leather and textiles, still lag behind. The long upward trend of fundamental progress, however, gave rise to over-optimism as to profits, which translated itself into a wave of uncontrolled speculation in securities, resulting in the dislocation of capital from business to the stock market and the inevitable crash. The natural consequences have been a reduction in the consumption of luxuries and semi-necessities by those who have met with losses, and a number of persons thrown temporarily out of employment. Prices of agricultural products dealt in upon the great markets have been affected in sympathy with the stock crash.

Fortunately, the federal reserve system had taken measures to strengthen the position against the day when speculation would break, which together with the strong position of the banks has carried the whole credit system through the crisis without impairment. The capital which has been hitherto absorbed in stock market loans for speculative purposes is now returning to the normal channels of business. There has been no inflation in the prices of commodities; there has been no undue accumulation of goods, and foreign trade has expanded to a magnitude which exerts a steady influence upon activity in industry and employment.

The sudden threat of unemployment and especially the recollection of the economic consequences of previous crashes under a much less secured financial system created unwarranted pessimism and fear. It was recalled that past storms of similar character had resulted in retrenchment of construction, reduction of wages and laying off of workers. The natural result was the tendency of business agencies throughout the country to pause in their plans and proposals for continuation and extension of their businesses, and this hesitation unchecked could have led into a depression with widespread unemployment and suffering.

I have, therefore, instituted systematic, voluntary measures of cooperation with the business institutions and with state and municipal authorities to make certain that fundamental businesses of the country shall continue as usual, that wages and therefore consuming power shall not be reduced, and that a special effort shall be made to expand construction work in order to assist in equalizing other deficits in employment. Due to the enlarged sense of cooperation and responsibility which has grown in the business world during the past few years the response has been remarkable and satisfactory. We have canvassed the federal government and instituted measures of prudent expansion in such work that should be helpful, and upon which the different departments will make some early recommendations to congress.

I am convinced that through these measures we have re-established confidence. Wages should remain stable. A very large degree of industrial unemployment and suffering which would otherwise have occurred has been prevented. Agricultural prices have reflected the returning confidence. The measures taken must be vigorously pursued until normal conditions are restored.

Agriculture.

The agricultural situation is improving. The gross farm income as estimated by the department of agriculture for the crop season 1926-27 was $12,100,000,000; for 1927-28 it was $12,300,000,000; for 1928-29 it was $12,500,000,000; and estimated on the basis of prices since the last harvest the value of the 1929-30 crop would be over $12,650,000,000. The slight decline in general commodity prices during the past few years naturally assists the farmers' buying power. The number of farmer bankruptcies is very materially decreased below previous years. The decline in land values now seems to be arrested and an effective tariff upon agricultural products, that will compensate the farmer's higher costs and higher standards of living, has a dual purpose. Such a tariff not only protects the farmer in our domestic market but it also stimulates him to diversify his crops and to grow products that he could not otherwise produce, and thus lessens his dependence upon exports to foreign markets. The great expansion of production abroad under the conditions I have mentioned renders foreign competition in our export markets increasingly serious. It seems but natural, therefore, that the American farmer, having been greatly handicapped in his foreign market by such competition from the younger expanding countries, should ask that foreign access to our domestic market should be regulated by taking into account the differences in our costs of production.

"In considering the tariff for other industries than agriculture, we find that there have been economic shifts necessitating a readjustment of some of the tariff schedules. Seven years' experience under a tariff bill enacted in 1922 have demonstrated the wisdom of congress in the enactment of that measure. On the whole it has worked well. In the main our wages have been maintained at high levels; our exports and imports have steadily increased, with some exceptions our manufacturing industries have been prosperous. Nevertheless, economic changes have taken place during that time which have placed certain domestic products at a disadvantage and new industries have come into being, all of which create the necessity for some limited changes in the schedules and in the administrative clauses of the laws as written in 1922.

"It would seem to me that the rate of movement from the farm to the city has been reduced. Not all sections of agriculture, of course, have fared equally, and some areas have suffered from drought. Responsible farm leaders have assured me that a large measure of confidence is returning to agriculture and that a feeling of optimism pervades that industry.

The most extensive action for strengthening the agricultural industry ever taken by any government was inaugurated through the farm marketing act of June 15 last. Under its provisions the Federal Farm board has been established, comprised of men long and widely experienced in agriculture and sponsored by the farm organizations of the country. During its short period of existence the board has taken definite steps toward a more efficient organization of agriculture, toward the elimination of waste in marketing, and toward the upbuilding of farmers' marketing organizations on sounder and more efficient lines. Substantial headway has been made in the organization of four of the basic commodities—grain, cotton, livestock and wool. Support by the board to cooperative marketing organizations and other board activities undoubtedly have served to steady the farmers' market during the recent crisis and have operated also as a great stimulus to the cooperative organization of agriculture. The problems of the industry are most complex, and the need for sounder organization is imperative. Yet the board is moving rapidly along the lines laid for it in the act, facilitating the creation by farmers of farmer-owned and farmer-controlled organizations and federating them into central institutions, with a view to increasing the bargaining power of agriculture, preventing and controlling surpluses, and mobilizing the economic power of agriculture.

The special session of congress was called to expedite the fulfillment of party pledges of agricultural relief and the tariff. The pledge of farm relief has been carried out. At that time I stated the principles upon which I believed action should be taken in respect to the tariff.

"An effective tariff upon agricultural products, that will compensate the farmer's higher costs and higher standards of living, has a dual purpose. Such a tariff not only protects the farmer in our domestic market but it also stimulates him to diversify his crops and to grow products that he could not otherwise produce, and thus lessens his dependence upon exports to foreign markets. test of necessity for revision is, in the main, whether there has been a substantial slackening of activity in an industry during the past few years, and a consequent decrease of employment due to insurmountable competition in the products of that industry. It is not as if we were setting up a new basis of protective duties. We did that seven years ago. What we need to remedy now is whatever substantial loss of employment may have resulted from shifts since that time.

In determining changes in our tariff we must not fail to take into account the broad interests of the country as a whole, and such interests include our trade relations with other countries."

No condition has arisen in my view to change these principles stated at the opening of the special session. I am firmly of the opinion that their application to the pending revision will give the country the kind of a tariff law it both needs and wants. It would be most helpful if action should be taken at an early moment, more especially at a time when business and agriculture are both cooperating to minimize future uncertainties. It is just that they should know what the rates are to be.

Even a limited revision requires the consideration and readjustment of many items. The exhaustive inquiries and valuable debate from men representative of all parts of the country which is necessary to determine the detailed rates must necessarily be accomplished in the congress. However perfectly this rate structure may be framed at any given time, the shifting of economic forces which inevitably occurs will render changes in some items desirable between the necessarily long intervals of congressional revision. Injustices are bound to develop, such as were experienced by the dairymen, the flaxseed producers, the glass industry, and others, under the 1922 rates. For this reason, I have been more anxious that the broad principle of the flexible tariff as provided in the existing law should be preserved and its delays in action avoided by more expeditious methods of determining the costs of production at home and abroad, with executive authority to promulgate such changes upon recommendation of the tariff commission after exhaustive investigation. Changes by the congress in isolated items such as those to which I have referred would have been unlikely both because of the concentration of oppositions in the country, who could see no advantage to their own industry or state, and because of the difficulty of limiting consideration by the congress to such isolated cases.

There is no fundamental conflict between the interests of the farmer and the worker. Lowering of the standards of living of either tends to destroy the other. The prosperity of one rests upon the well-being of the other. Nor is there any real conflict between the east and west in the United States. The complete interlocking of economic dependence, the common striving for social and spiritual progress, our common heritage as Americans, and the infinite web of national sentiment, have created a solidarity in a great people unparalleled in all human history. These invisible bonds should not and can not be shattered by differences of opinion growing out of discussion of a tariff.

Public Buildings.

Under the provisions of various acts of congress $300,000,000 has been authorized for public buildings and land upon which to construct them, being $75,000,000 for the District of Columbia and $225,000,000 for the country at large. Excluding $25,000,000 which is for the acquisition of land in the so-called "triangle" in this city, this public building legislation provides for a five-year program for the District of Columbia and for an eight and nine year program for the country at large. Of this sum approximately $27,400,000 was expended up to June 30 last, of which $11,400,000 has been expended in the District and $16,000,000 outside.

Even this generous provision for both the District of Columbia and the country is insufficient for most pressing governmental needs. Expensive rents and inadequate facilities are extravagance and not economy. In the District even after the completion of these projects we shall have fully 20,000 clerks housed in rented and temporary war buildings which can last but a little longer.

I therefore recommend that consideration should be given to the extension of authorizations both for the country at large and for the District of Columbia again distributed over a term of years. A survey of the need in both categories has been made by the secretary of the treasury and the postmaster general. It would be helpful in the present economic situation if such steps were taken as would enable early construction work.

An expedition and enlargement of the program in the District would bring about direct economies in construction by enabling the erection of buildings in regular sequence. By maintaining a stable labor force in the city, contracts can be made on more advantageous terms.

The earlier completion of this program which is an acknowledged need would add dignity to the celebration in 1932 of the 200th anniversary of the birth of President Washington.

In consideration of these projects which contribute so much to dignify the national capital I should like to renew the suggestion that the Fine Arts Commission should be required to pass upon private buildings which are proposed for sites facing upon public buildings and parks. Without such control much of the effort of the congress in beautification of the capital will be minimized.

The Waterways and Flood Control.

The development of inland waterways has received new impulse from the completion during this year of the canalization of the Ohio to a uniform 9-foot depth. The development of the other segments of the Mississippi system should be expedited and with this in view I am recommending an increase in appropriations for rivers and harbors from $50,000,000 to $55,000,000 per annum which, together with about $4,000,000 per annum released by completion of the Ohio, should make available after providing for other river and harbor works a sum of from $25,000,000 to

Conflict of opinion which has arisen over the proposed floodway from the Arkansas river to the Gulf of Mexico via the Atchafalaya river has led me to withhold construction upon this portion of the Mississippi flood control plan until it could be again reviewed by the engineers for any further recommendations to congress. The other portions of the project are being vigorously prosecuted and I have recommended an increase in appropriations for this from $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 during the next fiscal year.

Expansion of our intracoastal waterways to effective barge depths is well warranted. We are awaiting the action of Canada upon the St. Lawrence waterway project.

Highways.

There are over 3,000,000 miles of legally established highways in the United States of which about 10 per cent are included in the state highway systems, the remainder being county and other local roads. About 626,000 miles have been improved with some type of surfacing, comprising some 63 per cent of the state highway systems and 16 per cent of the local roads. Of the improved roads about 102,000 miles are hard surfaced, comprising about 22 per cent of the state highway systems and about 8 per cent of the local roads.

While proper planning should materially reduce the listed mileage of gravel roads, particularly in the agricultural districts, and turn these roads back to useful purposes, it is evident that road construction must be a long-continued program. Progress in improvement is about 50,000 miles of all types per annum, of which some 12,000 miles are of the more durable types. The total expenditures of federal, state and local governments last year for construction and maintenance assumed the huge total of $1,660,000,000.

Federal aid in the construction of the highway systems in conjunction with the states has proved to be beneficial and stimulating. We must ultimately give consideration to the increase of our contribution to these systems, particularly with a view to stimulating the improvement of farm-to-market roads.

Post Office.

Our post office deficit has now increased to over $80,000,000 a year, of which perhaps $14,000,000 is due to losses on ocean mail and air mail contracts. The department is making an exhaustive study of the sources of the deficit with view to later recommendation to congress in respect to it.

The post office quarters are provided in part by the federal construction, in part by various forms of rent and lease arrangements. The practice has grown up in recent years of contracting long term leases under which both rent and amortization principal cost of buildings is included. I am advised that fully 40 per cent could be saved from many such leases and lease agreements even after allowing interest on the capital required at the normal government rate. There are also many objectionable features to some of these practices. The provision of adequate quarters for the human mails should be put on a sound basis.

A revision of air mail rates upon a more systematic and permanent footing is necessary. The subject is under study, and if legislation should prove necessary the subject will be presented to the congress. In the meantime I recommend that the congress should consider the desirability of authorizing further expansion of the South American services.

Commercial Aviation.

During the past year progress in civil aeronautics has been remarkable. This is to a considerable degree due to the wise assistance of the federal government through the establishment and maintenance of airways by the department of commerce and the mail contracts from the post office department. The government-owned airways now exceed 25,000 miles—more than 14,000 miles of which will be lighted and equipped for night-flying operations by the close of the present year. Airport construction throughout all the states is extremely active. There are now 1,000 commercial and municipal airports in operation with an additional 1,200 proposed for early development.

Through this assistance the nation is building a sound aviation system, operated by private enterprise. Over 6,400 planes are in commercial use, and 9,400 pilots are licensed by the government. Our manufacturing capacity has arisen to 7,500 planes per annum. The aviation companies have increased regular air transportation until it now totals 90,000 miles per day—one-fourth of which is flown by night. Mail and express services now connect our principal cities, and extensive services for passenger transportation have been inaugurated, and others of importance are imminent. American air lines now reach into Canada and Mexico to Cuba, Porto Rico, Central America and most of the important countries of South America.

Railroads.

As a whole, the railroads never were in such good physical and financial condition, and the country has never been so well served by them. The greatest volume of freight traffic ever handled is being carried at a speed never before attained and with satisfaction to the shippers. Efficiencies and new methods have resulted in reduction of the cost of providing freight transportation, and freight rates show a continuous descending line from the level enforced by the World War.

We have, however, not yet assured for the future that adequate system of transportation through consolidation which was the objective of the congress in the transportation act. The chief purpose of consolidation is to secure well-balanced systems with more uniform and satisfactory rate structure, a more stable financial structure, more equitable distribution of traffic, greater efficiency, and single-line instead of multiple-line hauls. In this way the country will have the assurance of better service and ultimately at lower and more even rates than would otherwise be attained. Legislation to simplify and expedite consolidation methods and better to protect public interest should be enacted.

Consideration should also be given to relief of the members of the commission from the necessity of detailed attention to comparatively inconsequential matters which, under the existing law, must receive their direct and personal consideration. It is in the public interest that the members of the commission should not be so pressed by minor matters that they have adequate time for investigation and consideration of the larger questions committed to them for solution. As to many of these minor matters, the function of the commission might well be made advisory, and the primary responsibility delegated to subordinate officials after the practice long in vogue in the executive departments.

Merchant Marine.

Under the impulse of the merchant marine act of 1928 the transfer to private enterprise of the government-owned steamship lines is going forward with increasing success. The Shipping board now operates about 18 lines, which is less than half the number originally established, and the estimate of expenditures for the coming fiscal year is based upon reduction in losses on government lines by approximately one-half. Construction loans have been made to the amount of approximately $75,000,000 out of the revolving fund authorized by congress and have furnished an additional aid to American shipping and further stimulated the building of vessels in American yards. Desires of securing the full values to the nation of the great effort to develop our merchant marine by the merchant marine act soon after the inauguration of the present administration, I appointed an interdepartmental committee, consisting of the secretary of commerce, as chairman, the secretary of the navy, the postmaster general and the chairman of the shipping board, to make a survey of the policies being pursued under the act of 1928 in respect of mail contracts; to inquire into its workings and to advise the postmaster general in the administration of the act.

In particular it seemed to me necessary to determine if the result of the contracts already let would assure the purpose expressed in the act, "to further develop an American merchant marine, to assure its permanence in the transportation of the foreign trade of the United States, and for other purposes," and to develop a coordinated policy by which these purposes may be translated into actualities.

In review of the mail contracts already awarded it was found that they aggregated 25 separate awards imposing a governmental obligation of a little over $12,000,000 per annum. Provision had been imposed in five of the contracts for construction of new vessels with which to replace and expand services. These requirements come to a total of $12,000,000. Some other conditions in the contracts had not worked out satisfactorily.

That study has now been substantially completed and the committee has advised the desirability and the necessity of securing much larger undertakings as to service and new construction in future contracts. The committee at this time is recommending the advertising of 14 additional routes, making substantial requirements for the construction of new vessels during the life of each contract recommended. A total of 40 new vessels will be required under the contracts proposed, about half of which will be required to be built during the next three years. The capital cost of this new construction will be approximately $250,000,000, involving approximately 460,000 gross tons. Should bidders be found who will make these undertakings, it will be necessary to recommend to congress an increase in the authorized expenditure by the post office of about $500,000,000 annually. It will be most advantageous to grant such an authority.

A conflict as to the administration of the act has arisen in the construction of the vessels that they are entitled to mail contracts irrespective of whether they are the lowest bidder, the post office, on the other hand, being required by law to let contracts in that manner. It is urgent that congress should clarify this situation.

The Banking System.

It is desirable that congress should consider the revision of some portions of the banking law.

The development of "group" and "chain" banking presents many new problems. The question naturally arises as to whether it allowed to expand without restraint these methods would dangerously concentrate control of the funds of the country in the hands of a few individuals, and whether they would not in any event seriously threaten one of the fundamentals of the American credit system—which is that credit which is based upon banking deposits should be controlled by persons within those areas which furnish these deposits and are subject to the restraints of local interest and public opinion in those areas. To some degree, however, this movement of chain or group banking is a groping for stronger support to the banks and a more secure basis for these institutions.

The growth in size and stability of the metropolitan banks is in marked contrast to the trend in the country districts, with its many failures and the losses these failures have imposed upon the agricultural community.

The relinquishment of charters of national banks in great commercial centers in favor of state charters includes that some conditions surround the national banks which render them unable to compete with state banks; and their withdrawal results in weakening our national banking system.

It has been proposed that permission should be granted to national banks to engage in branch banking of a nature that would preserve within limited regions the local responsibility and the control of such credit institutions.

All these subjects, however, require careful investigation, and it might be found advantageous to create a joint commission embracing members of congress and other appropriate federal officials for subsequent report.

Electrical Power Regulation.

The Federal Power Commission is now comprised of three cabinet officers, and the duties involved in the competent conduct of the growing responsibilities of this commission far exceed the time and attention which these officials can properly afford to other important duties. I recommend that authority be given for the appointment of full-time commissioners to replace them.

It is also desirable that the authority of the commission should be extended to certain phases of power regulation. The duties of the electric utilities industry is such that about 90 per cent of all power generation and distribution is intrastate in character, and most of the states have developed their own regulatory systems as to certificates of convenience, rates and profits of such utilities. To encourage such authorities to exercise their responsibilities would be an encroachment upon the rights of the states. There are cases, however, of interstate character beyond the jurisdiction of the states. To meet these cases it would be most desirable if a method could be worked out by which initial decisions of the states whose joint action should be made effective by the Federal Power Commission with a reserve to act on its own motion in case of disagreement or non-action by the states.

The Radio Commission.

I recommend the reorganization of the Radio Commission into a permanent body from its present temporary status. The requirement of the present law that the commissioners shall be appointed from specified zones should be abolished and a general provision made for their equitable selection from different parts of the country. Despite the effort of the commissioners, the present method of selection has resulted in the commission being composed of persons who are not familiar with the conditions of the radio industry in the various parts of the country. The commissioners are specially charged with supervision of radio affairs in the zone from which each is appointed. As a result there is danger that the system will degenerate from a national system into five regional agencies with varying practices, varying policies, competitive tendencies and consequent failure to attain its utmost capacity for service to the people as a whole.

Muscle Shoals.

It is most desirable that this question should be disposed of. Under present conditions the income from these plants is less than could otherwise be secured for its use, and more especially the public is not securing the full benefits which could be obtained from them.

It is my belief that such parts of these plants as would be useful and the revenues from the remainder should be dedicated for all time to the farmers of the United States for investigation and experimentation on a commercial scale in agricultural chemistry. By such means advancing discoveries of science can be systematically applied to agricultural need, development of the chemical industry of the Tennessee valley can be assured.

I do not favor the operation by the government of either power or manufacturing business except as an unavoidable by-product of some other major public purpose.

Any form of settlement of this question will imply entering upon a contract or contracts for the lease of the plants either as a whole or in parts and the reservation of facilities, products, or income for agricultural purposes. The extremely technical and involved nature of such contracts dealing with chemical and electrical enterprises, added to the unusual difficulties surrounding these power plants, and the rapid commercial changes now in progress in power and synthetic nitrogen manufacture, lead me to suggest that congress create a special commission, not to investigate and report as in the past, but with authority to negotiate and complete some sort of contract or contracts on behalf of the government, the return of course to such general requirements as congress may stipulate.

Boulder Dam.

The secretary of the interior is making satisfactory progress in negotiation of the very complex contracts required for the sale of the power to be generated at this project. These contracts must assure the return of the government outlays upon the project. I recommend that the necessary funds be appropriated for the initiation of this work as soon as the contracts are in the hands of congress.

Conservation.

Conservation of national resources is a fixed policy of the government. Three important questions bearing upon conservation of the public lands have become urgent.

Conservation of our oil and gas resources against future need is a national necessity. The working of the oil permit system in development of oil and gas resources on the public domain has been subject to great abuse. Considered necessary to suspend the issuance of such permits and direct the review of all outstanding permits as to compliance of the holders with the law. The purpose was not only to end such abuse but to place the government in position to review the entire subject.

We are also confronted with a major problem in conservation due to the overgrazing on public lands. The effect of overgrazing (which has now become general) is not only to destroy the ranges but by impairing the ground coverage seriously to menace the water supply in many parts of the west through quick run-off, spring floods and autumn drought.

We have a third problem of major dimensions in the problem of our reclamation policy. The inclusion of most of the available lands of the public domain in existing or planned reclamation projects largely completes the original purpose of the reclamation service. There still remains the question of the extensive storage of water in the arid states which renders it desirable that we

To provide for careful consideration of these questions and also of better division of responsibilities in them as between the state and federal governments, including the possible transfer to the states for school purposes of the lands unserved for forests, parks, power, minerals, etc., I have appointed a commission on conservation of the public domain, with a membership representing the major public land states and at the same time the public at large. I recommend that congress should authorize a moderate sum to defray their expenses.

Social Service.

The federal government provides for an extensive and valuable program of constructive social service, in education, home building, protection to women and children, employment, public health, recreation and many other directions.

In a broad sense federal activity in these directions has been confined to research and dissemination of information and experience, and at most to temporary subsidies to the states in order to secure uniform advancement in practice and methods.

Any other attitude by the federal government will undermine one of the most precious possessions of the American people; that is, local and individual responsibility. We should adhere to this policy.

Federal officials can, however, make a further and most important contribution by leadership in stimulation of the community. This may be accomplished by extending federal assistance in organization of these forces and bringing about cooperation among them.

As an instance of this character, I have recently, in cooperation with the secretaries of interior and labor, laid the foundation of an exhaustive inquiry into the facts precedent to a nation-wide White House conference on child health and protection. This cooperative movement among interested agencies will impose no expense upon the government. Similar nationwide conferences will be called in connection with better housing and recreation at a later date.

In view of the considerable difference of opinion as to the policies which should be pursued by the federal government with respect to education, I have appointed a committee representative of the important educational associations and others to investigate and present recommendations. In cooperation with the secretary of the interior, I have also appointed a voluntary committee of distinguished membership to assist in a nation-wide movement for abolition of illiteracy.

I have recommended additional appropriations for the federal employment service in order that it may more fully cover its cooperative work with state and local services. I have also recommended additional appropriations for the women's and children's bureau for much-needed research as to facts which I feel will prove most helpful.

Public Health.

The advance in scientific discovery as to disease and health imposes new considerations upon us. The nation as a whole is vitally interested in the health of all the people; in protection from spread of contagious disease; in the relation of physical and mental disabilities of criminality; and in the economic and moral advancement which is fundamentally associated with sound body and mind. The organization of preventive measures and health education in its personal application is the soundest public health service. Such organization should be as universal as public education. Its support is a proper burden upon the taxpayer. It can not be organized with success, either in its sanitary or educational phases, except under public authority. It should be based upon local and state responsibility, but I consider that the federal government has an obligation of contribution to the establishment of such agencies.

In the practical working out of organization, exhaustive experiment and trial have demonstrated the base should be the municipal, county, or other local unit. Most of our municipalities and some 400 rural counties out of 3,000 now have some unit organization. Where highly developed, a health unit comprises at least a physician, sanitary engineer and community nurse, with the addition, in some cases, of another nurse devoted to the problems of maternity and children. Such organization gives at once a fundamental control of preventive measures and assists in community instruction. The federal government, through its interest in the United States public health service and the state agencies, has in the past and should in the future concern itself with this development, particularly in the many rural sections which are unfortunately far behind in progress.

Some parts of the funds contributed under the Sheppard-Towner act through the children's bureau of the department of labor also have found their way into these channels.

I recommend to the congress that the purpose of the Sheppard-Towner act should be continued through the children's bureau for a limited period of years; and that the congress should consider the desirability of confining the use of federal funds by the states to the building up of such county or other local units, and that such outlay should be positively coordinated with the funds expended through the United States public health service in other phases of the same county or other local unit organization. All funds appropriated should of course be applied through the states so that the public health program of the county or local unit will be efficiently coordinated with that of the whole state.

Federal Prisons.

Closely related to crime conditions is the administration of the federal prison system. Our federal penal institutions are overcrowded, and this condition is daily becoming worse. The parole and probation systems are inadequate. These conditions make it impossible to perform the work of the federal prison system. It is imperative that we return to the pressing evils I have directed the temporary transfer of the army disciplinary barracks at Leavenworth to the department of justice for use as a federal prison. Not only is this temporary but it is inadequate for present needs.

We need some new federal prisons and a reorganization of our probation and parole systems; and there should be established in the department of justice a bureau of prisons with a sufficient force to deal adequately with the growing activities of our prison inmates. Authorization for prison improvements should be given immediately, with initial appropriations to allow the construction of the new institutions to be undertaken at once.

Immigration.

Restriction of immigration has from every aspect proved a sound national policy. Our pressing problem is to formulate a method by which the limited number of immigrants whom the law permits to enter should be adapted to our national setting and our national needs.

I have been opposed to the basis of the quotas now in force and I have hoped that we could find some practical method by which the limited number of immigrants whom the law permits to enter should be adapted to our national setting and our national needs. I believe that the fitness of the immigrant as to physique, character, training and our need of service. Perhaps some system of priorities within the quotas could produce these results and at the same time enable some of the present system to be cleared up. I recommend that the congress should give the subject further study, in which the executive department will gladly cooperate with the hope of discovering such method as will more fully secure our national necessities.

Veterans.

It has been the policy of our government almost from its inception to make provision for the men who have been disabled in defense of our country. This policy should be maintained. Originally it took the form of land grants and pensions. This system continued until our entry into the World War. The congress at that time inaugurated a new plan of compensation, rehabilitation hospitalization, medical care and treatment, and insurance, whereby benefits were awarded to those veterans and their immediate dependents whose disabilities were attributable to their war service. The basic principle in this legislation is sound.

In a desire to eliminate all possibilities of injustice due to difficulties in establishing service connection of disabilities, these principles have been to some degree extended. Veterans whose diseases or injuries have become apparent within a brief period after the war are now receiving compensation; insurance benefits have been liberalized. Emergency officers are now receiving additional benefits. The doors of the government's hospitals have been opened to all veterans, even though their disabilities were not the result of their war service. In addition adjusted service certificates have been issued to 3,433,300 veterans. This in itself will mean an expenditure of nearly $3,500,000,000 before 1945, in addition to the $600,000,000 which we are now appropriating annually for our veterans' relief.

The administration of all laws concerning the veterans and their dependents has been upon the basis of dealing generously, humanely and justly. While some inequalities have arisen, substantial and adequate care has been given to the disabled veterans. Further improvement in administration may require some amendment from time to time to the law, but care should be taken to see that such changes conform to the basic principles of the legislation.

I am convinced that we will gain efficiency, economy and more uniform administration and better definition of national policies if the pension bureau, the national home for volunteer soldiers, and the veterans' bureau are brought together under a single agency. The total appropriations to these agencies now exceed $800,000,000 per annum.

Civil Service.

Approximately four-fifths of all the employees in the executive civil service now occupy positions subject to the competitive examination under the civil service law.

There are, however, still commanding opportunities for extending the system. These opportunities lie within the province of congress and not the president. I recommend that a further step be taken by authorization that appointments of third class postmaster be made under the civil service law.

Departmental Reorganization.

This subject has been under consideration for over 20 years. It was promised by both political parties in the recent campaign. It has been repeatedly examined by committees and commissions—congressional, executive and voluntary. The conclusions of these investigations have been unanimous that reorganization is a necessity of sound administration; of economy; of more effective governmental policies and of relief to the citizen from unnecessary harassment in his relations with a multitude of scattered governmental agencies. But the presentation of any specific plan at once invites opposition from every official whose authority may be curtailed or who fears his position is imperiled by such a result; of bureaus and departments which wish to maintain their authority and activities; of citizens and their organizations who are selfishly interested, or who are inspired by fear that their favorite subjects to the influence be less subject to some other influence.

It seems to me that the essential principles of reorganization are two in number. First, all administrative activities of the same major purpose should be placed in groups under single-headed responsibility; second, all executive and administrative functions should be separated from boards and commissions and placed under individual responsibility, while quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial and broadly advisory functions should be removed from individual authority and assigned to boards and commissions. Indeed, these are the fundamental principles upon which our government was founded, and they are the principles which have been adhered to in the whole development of our business structure and they are the distillation of the common sense of generations.

For instance, the conservation of national resources is spread among eight agencies in five departments. They suffer from conflict and overlap. There is no proper development and adherence to broad national policies and no central point where contradictory causes of our situation and has enlisted the aid of investigators in fields requiring special consideration. I am confident that as a result of its studies now being carried forward it will make a notable contribution to the solution of our pressing problems.

Pending further legislation, the department of justice has been striving to weed out inefficiency wherever it exists, to stimulate activity on the part of its prosecuting officers, and to use increasing care in examining into the qualifications of those appointed to serve as prosecutors. The department is seeking systematically to strengthen the law enforcement agencies week by week and month by month, not by dramatic displays but by steady pressure; by removal of negligent officials and by encouragement and assistance to the vigilant. During the course of these efforts it has been revealed that in some districts causes contributing to the congestion of criminal dockets, and to delays and inefficiency in prosecutions, have been lack of sufficient forces in the offices of United States attorneys, clerks of courts and marshals. These conditions tend to clog the machinery of justice. The last conference of senior circuit judges has taken note of them and endorsed the department's proposals for improvement. Increases in appropriations are necessary and will be asked for in order to re-enforce these offices.

Prohibition.

The first duty of the president under his oath of office is to secure the enforcement of the laws enacted to give effect to the 18th amendment is far from satisfactory and this is in part due to the inadequate organization of the administrative agencies of the federal government. With the hope of expediting such reorganization, I requested on June 6 last a joint committee with executive agencies in preparation of legislation. It would be helpful if it could be so appointed. The subject has been earnestly considered by the law enforcement commission and the administrative officials of the government. Our joint conclusions are that certain steps should be taken at once. First, there should be an immediate concentration of responsibility and strengthening of enforcement agencies of the federal government by transfer to the department of justice of the federal courts of prosecution, considerable degree of prosecution, which are now lodged in the prohibition bureau in the treasury; and at the same time the control of the distribution of industrial alcohol and legalized beverages should remain in the treasury. Second, provision should be made for relief of congestion in the courts by modifying and simplifying the procedure for dealing with the large volume of petty prosecutions under various federal acts. Third, there should be a codification of the laws relating to prohibition to avoid the necessity which now exists of resorting to more than 25 statutes enacted at various times over 40 years. Technical defects in these statutes that have been disclosed should be cured. I would add to these recommendations the desirability of reorganizing the various services engaged in the prevention of smuggling into one border patrol under the coast guard. Further recommendations upon the subject as a whole will be developed after further examination by the law enforcement commission, but it is not to be expected that any criminal law will ever be fully enforced so long as criminals exist.

The District of Columbia should be the model of city law enforcement in the nation. While conditions here are much better than in many other cities, they are far from perfect, and this is due in part to the congestion of criminal cases in the supreme court of the District, resulting in long delays. Furthermore, there is need for legislation in the District supplementing the national prohibition act, more sharply defining and enlarging the duties and power of the District commissioners and the police of the District, and opening the way for better cooperation in the enforcement of the prohibition between the District officials and the prohibition officers of the federal government. It is urgent that these conditions be remedied.

Law Enforcement and Observance. No one will look with satisfaction upon the volume of crime of all kinds and the growth of organized crime in our country. We have pressing need so to organize our system of administering criminal justice as to establish full vigor and effectiveness. We need to re-establish faith that the highest interests of our country are served by insistence upon the swift and even-handed administration of justice to all offenders, whether they are rich or poor. That we shall effect improvement is vital to the preservation of our institutions. It is the most serious issue before our people.

Under the authority of congress I have appointed a national commission on law observance and enforcement, for an exhaustive study of the entire problem of the enforcement of our laws and the improvement of our judicial system, including the special problems and abuses growing out of prohibition laws. The commission has been invited to make the widest inquiry into the shortcomings of the administration of justice and into the causes and remedies for them. It has organized its work under sub-committees dealing with the many contributory causes of our situation and has enlisted the aid of investigators in fields requiring special consideration. I am confident that as a result of its studies now being carried forward it will make a notable contribution to the solution of our pressing problems.

Pending further legislation, the department of justice has been striving to weed out inefficiency wherever it exists, to stimulate activity on the part of its prosecuting officers, and to use increasing care in examining into the qualifications of those appointed to serve as prosecutors. The department is seeking systematically to strengthen the law enforcement agencies week by week and month by month, not by dramatic displays but by steady pressure; by removal of negligent officials and by encouragement and assistance to the vigilant. ## MASSIVE FURNITURE NOW SCALED TO ROOMS

Sturdy furniture of the seventeenth and eighteenth century English type, much of which has previously been too massive for use in apartments, is now being scaled to the proportions of the modern room. The group pictured shows a corner of a living room in which feminine taste and a regard for masculine comfort have been nicely balanced. This is neither a man's nor a woman's room, and one in which both will feel at home. Substantial comfort and good taste are equally essential to the development of a harmonious room scheme. The design was selected by Ellen D. Wagner, editor of the American Home Magazine.

Four of the thieves were caught at the time, twelve years ago, and their testimony implicated Schuggnal, who could not be found and was sentenced by default.

Retiring Woman Assistant Attorney General Says
Liquor Smuggling Biggest Evil

Liquor Smuggling via Canada And The High Seas Continues Serious Problem

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Liquor smuggling from the high seas and over the Canadian border continued to be one of the serious prohibition enforcement problems during the past year, Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt declared Monday in her last report as assistant attorney general in charge of dry activities.

Mrs. Willebrandt, who resigned July 1 to enter into the private practice of law, prepared the section of Attorney General Mitchell's annual report pertaining to prohibition. She has been succeeded by G. Aaron Youngquist, former attorney general of Minnesota.

"As indicated by the last report the volume of contraband liquor smuggled over the Canadian border, was steadily increasing in volume during the year," Mrs. Willebrandt said.

Most of the difficulty arises in the waterways of the Great Lakes system. Special efforts are being made to coordinate more effectively the preventive forces of the United States. It is hoped that very substantial progress may be reported in the next annual report.

No data was available on the number of domestic vessels seized in the rum trade. The report showed there were 17 seizures of foreign liquor ships compared to 22 in 1928, 31 in 1927, 33 in 1926 and 25 in 1925.

Mrs. Willebrandt said small boats were still the chief source of trouble. Large vessels were gradually abandoning the rum traffic owing to increased risk of seizure.

St. Pierre-Miquelon, in the mouth of the St. Lawrence river, continued to be the main base of supply for those engaged in the rum smuggling business.

Would Strengthen Treaty.

The I'm Alone incident—British schooner pursued and sent to the bottom by a coast guard cutter in the Gulf of Mexico—was referred to as having "developed into a matter of very considerable international importance." No comment was made on the merits of the case, which has been referred for international arbitration.

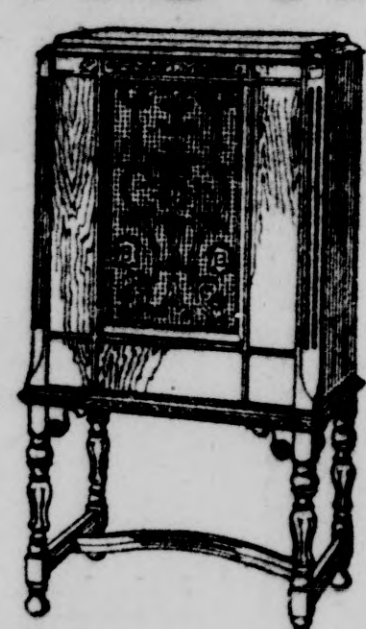

"A considerable period the government has been desirous of strengthening the liquor-smuggling treaty effective between Canada and United States," Mrs. Willebrandt said.

"The chief defect lies in the fact that the treaty permits the official clearance through Canadian customs of intoxicating liquor consigned to the United States and intended to be illegally introduced here."

In January, 1929, a conference on the subject was held in Ottawa, between representatives of the two governments. No favorable results can yet be reported but the matter is still being considered by the Canadian government.

William McCluskey, aged 83, for over 40 years a resident of New Bedford, died at the family residence Monday evening from a complication of diseases. Mr. McCluskey was born in Mercer county in 1846. His earlier life was spent in that county.

During the Civil War he was a member of Battery B, First Pennsylvania Light Artillery. He served throughout the war, taking part in many of the major engagements. He was an honorary member of Capt. Cooper's famous Battery B, organized at Mt. Jackson. On last Memorial Day Mr. McCluskey was the only old soldier answering roll call at New Bedford. His death removes the last charter member of the New Bedford post.

Mr. McCluskey came to New Bedford 40 years ago, where he followed the occupation of a cabinet maker for many years. He was a mechanic of the old school, an expert in his line.

His wife preceded him in death several years ago. He is survived by one son, Earl McCluskey, of New Bedford, and two daughters, Nellie Shields of New Bedford and Mrs. Clara Lowry of Youngstown. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at two p. m. from the home of Charles and Nellie Shields, New Bedford. Interment at Evergreen cemetery.

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—Fire damaged the Holland-American freighter Binnendijk and her cargo of linseed oil cakes and oil rugs to the extent of a half million dollars while the vessel lay moored to a pier here last night.

Despite all efforts of firemen and two fire boats, the blaze was still burning in the hold of the doomed ship early today. The dense green smoke pouring from the interior of the ship handicapped firemen as they poured streams of water into the blazing inferno. Ice formed over the bulk of the freighter and the wharf was made slippery by the continuous streams of water, adding to the handicaps of the fire-fighters. Little hopes were held even for saving the hull of the ill-fated vessel this morning.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of The World War
182—Pershing And Clemenceau

CLEMENCEAU, PREMIER OF FRANCE AND PRESIDENT OF THE ALLIED SUPREME WAR COUNCIL, WAS OPPOSED TO GENERAL PERSHING'S IDEA OF AN INDEPENDENT AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE. CLEMENCEAU HELD THE VIEW THAT THE AMERICAN FORCES COULD BE EMPLOYED MOST EFFECTIVELY AGAINST THE ENEMY IF BROKEN UP INTO SMALL UNITS UNDER FRENCH COMMAND.

IN DECEMBER, 1917, GENERAL PETAIN PROPOSED TO GENERAL PERSHING THAT ONE AMERICAN REGIMENT BE ASSIGNED TO EACH DIVISION OF THE FRENCH ARMY. PERSHING REJECTED THIS PROPOSAL ON THE GROUND THAT THE DIFFERENCE IN LANGUAGE AND TRAINING BETWEEN THE TWO ARMIES WOULD MAKE COMPLETE CO-OPERATION ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE.

CLEMENCEAU, REFUSING TO BE BALKED, FORTHWITH WENT OVER PERSHING'S HEAD, AND COMMUNICATED WITH SECRETARY OF WAR BAKER THROUGH THE FRENCH AMBASSADOR AT WASHINGTON. SECRETARY BAKER DECLINED TO INTERFERE, AND NOTIFIED GENERAL PERSHING THAT THE MATTER WAS LEFT WHOLLY TO HIS DISCRETION.

JANUARY 5, 1918, PERSHING WROTE TO CLEMENCEAU:
"MAY I NOT SUGGEST TO YOU, MY DEAR MR. PRESIDENT, THE INEPTITUDE OF COMMUNICATING SUCH MATTERS TO WASHINGTON BY CABLE? THESE QUESTIONS MUST ALL BE SETTLED HERE, EVENTUALLY, ON THEIR MERITS, THROUGH FRIENDLY CONFERENCES BETWEEN GENERAL PETAIN AND MYSELF, AND CABLES OF THIS SORT ARE VERY LIKELY TO CONVEY THE IMPRESSION IN WASHINGTON OF SERIOUS DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN US WHEN SUCH IS NOT THE CASE."

American Petroleum Institute Accepts Resignation From Edward L. Doheny

TO GO ON TRIAL NEXT JANUARY

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The accepted resignation of director Edward L. Doheny, prominent in the recent oil lease scandal, was placed before the American Petroleum Institute today as 2,500 oil men met in convention to nominate and elect a board of directors.

Doheny's resignation as director created a stir of surprise among the delegates when it was revealed following a director's meeting late yesterday.

Doheny, whose trial for conspiracy as a result of the government oil lease scandal comes up next January at Washington, has been a director of the institute since its beginning.

Resignation Accepted The oil magnate's resignation was accepted.

"It has occurred to me that inasmuch as I have failed in the past in fulfilling any duties to the board by attendance at its meetings and as it is quite unlikely that my disposition with regard to attendance will change, it will not in any way injure the organization of I make it possible for the election of some more active oil man," Doheny's letter to the Board of Directors read.

Harry F. Sinclair, recently released after serving a sentence for contempt of the Senate in connection with the oil lease scandal, was among yesterday's arrivals at the convention. Sinclair is a candidate for reelection to a directorship at today's balloting.

"Don't ask me how business is yet. I've just got out of jail," was one of the oil magnate's jests to friends and interviewers.

Sears, Roebuck May Merge With Penneys

If Merger Of Chain Stores Is Completed It Will Mean Valuation Of $300,000,000

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Rumors current in Chicago's financial circles today indicate that negotiations were afoot between Sears, Roebuck and Company and the J. C. Penney Company to bring about a $300,000,000 merger, forming the largest merchandising firm in the United States.

Realization of the reported merger would bring together two of the largest chain retail store organizations in the country. Sears, Roebuck and Co. besides being the leading mail order house is also among the foremost retail merchandise distributors with its 300 branch stores in various cities.

The J. C. Penney Company is reported to have the largest chain of department stores in the world with 1,200 stores under operation. Its annual business for this year is estimated at $200,000,000.

"I do not know the details of the negotiations," said Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the Board of Directors of Sears, Roebuck and Company. "The other officers are trying to work them out, they generally work out a plan and come to me for approval."

Spellman said his company would attempt to handle an offer made it by the American Brown Boveri company to build airships for an air passenger and freight line linking the United States and Europe.

Travel Difficult On Mountain Roads

Those who feel that driving conditions are difficult should attempt to drive across the state on some of the mountain highways.

According to word received by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowen of Young street from their daughter Janet and Mrs. A. L. Stewart of New York who left here Sunday morning to drive to New York the mountain roads are in a terrible condition in spots.

They tell of descending a hill almost seven miles long near Phillipsburg, which was a glare of ice. Miss Bowen got out and walked while a highway patrolman assisted in getting the car down the steep grade.

Further on the road was found in good condition however and little snow was encountered. It took them over 24 hours to make the trip.

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Doc Andrews of Columbia, professor of household economics, is negotiating with realtors for the erection, in the near future, of model apartments where the care of children and cooking and cleaning will devolve on a central agency of servants, chefs and housemaids. Meals, charwomen and nursemaids will be supplied simply by pressing a button.

Science does everything for the modern home except hold it together.

WHAT A GIRL DID Old Man Woolworth, the nickel and dime fancier, got along very well without advising. His successors felt the same way about it. They said: "What was good enough for F. W. is good enough for us." And then along came young Catherine McNelis, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a publicity specialist, with a sunny disposition and a wild desire to succeed. She told the directors of the dime corral that no legitimate business on earth is too small and none too large, to dispense with intelligent advertising.

They looked into Catherine's wide, earnest orbs and believed her.

The fact that old man Kirby, F. W. Woolworth's partner, lives in Wilkes-Barre had nothing to do with the matter.

Until Miss McNelis' advent no one ever thought of talking advertising to five and ten cents.

Advertising is a firm that in one year supplies blades for 100,000,000 shavers; bottles and toys for 12,000,000 babies; drapes for 5,000,000 windows; 90,000,000 lunches for hungry customers, and enough hoisery to keep 3,500 hoisery machines and 2,400 persons working 24 hours a day, simply bordered on the cuckoo.

That's why none of the big agencies in town want after the account. It was so big they entirely overlooked it, and in stepped Catherine, with her side kick, Hughie Weir, a lit'ry lad of Manhattan, and Woolworth signed on the dotted line.

With the profits from their deal, Katie and Hughie organized the Tower Magazines Inc. Publication of ten-cent magazines to be sold across Woolworth counters had been their big idea from the start. The advertising thing was just a short cut. Before the first issue of the magazines went to press Woolworth had entered an order for 1,000,000 copies.

The lad and the lassie have organized their own advertising agency now and have 50 accounts besides F. W.'s. And all that's worrying Katie is that she has to live in Manhattan instead of Wilkes-Barre. She doesn't like N'Yawk.

Genius has an engaging trick of throwing away the notes and playing by ear.

GO TO HIM FIRST Don Seitz, formerly a Park Row newspaper man, now one of the editors of The Outlook, has just made the startling discovery that "all of the bodies created to improve the movies have been appointed by the heads of the movie industry themselves; and, therefore, attempts to raise the morals of the films, by Will Hays and others, are merely camouflage."

What a discoverer old Don would have made had he lived in the time of Columbus. What Bill Nye said of Chris would have applied equally to Don: Folks having anything to discover, doubtless would have taken it to him before going elsewhere.

NO PUZZLE TO BROADWAY A professional commentator on things of the theater, idly gossiping the other day, remarked that Edgar B. Davis' picturesque loss in his three-year backing of the play, "The Ladder," is the greatest puzzle Broadway ever encountered in its checkered career.

Davis, a retired millionaire oil prospector, is devoting his life to aiding his fellow men. He thought "The Ladder" embodied an idea worth disseminating and he spent money on it.

That's no puzzle to Broadway. Mazda Lane understands, perhaps better than any other street on earth, the motive that impels a man to reach down into his jeans and spend money on an ideal.

The Masters of Mazda Lane may be puzzled at what Davis did; but the rank and file know—from the hungry number in the moth-eaten leading man's overcoat to the tired vaudeville performer who squanders his few hours of leisure in the charity known as "benefits."

ILLUSTRIOUS LINES "I'll see you in Bradstreet."—Tex Guinan.

"The time to buy stocks is during a panic." Sure. And wool is cheap just after the shearing, but that doesn't do a sheep any good.

Arguments Made In Court Cases

Court Hears Pleas In Case Of Ella M. Weinschenk Against Life Insurance Company

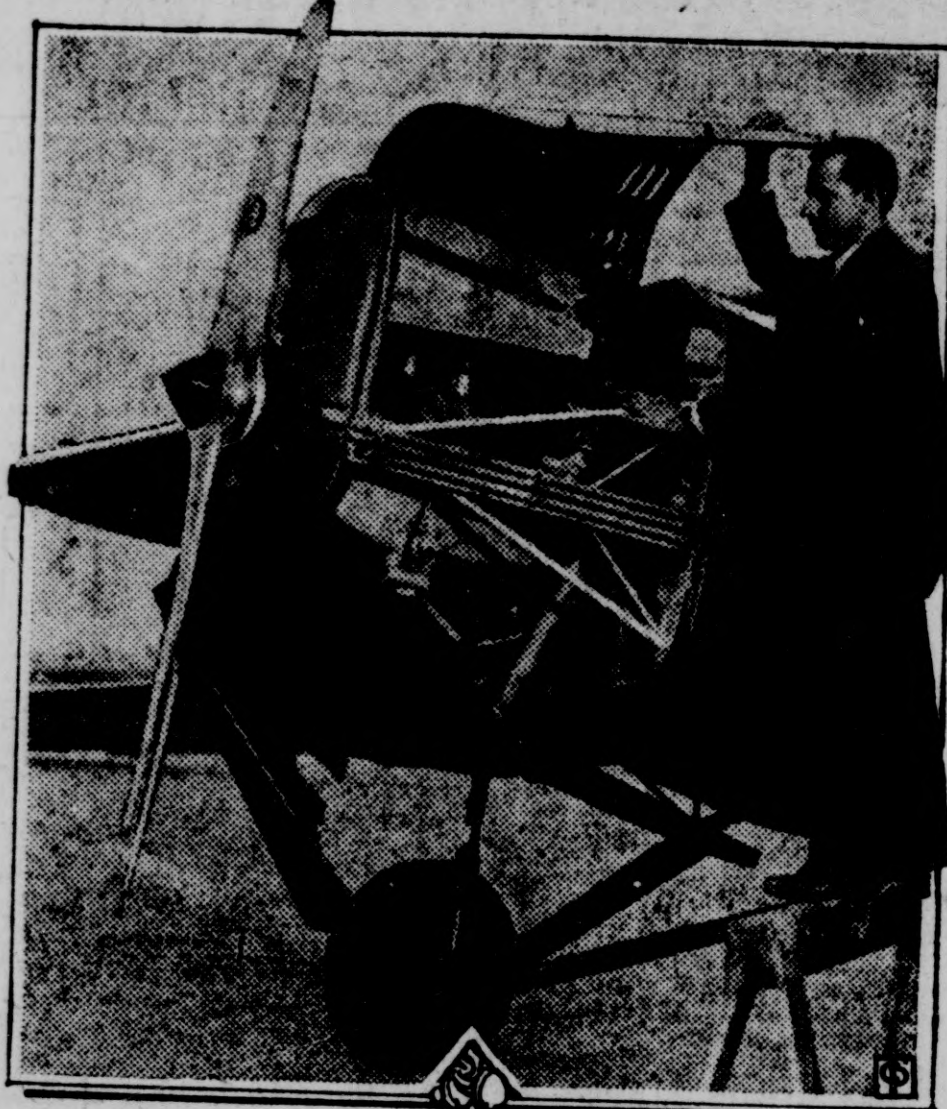

Arguments for a new trial were made at court this morning in the case of Ella M. Weinschenk against The Mutual Life Insurance company. This is a case in which Mrs. Weinschenk recovered a verdict for life insurance on her husband, Emanuel Weinschenk, who was killed when his tractor overturned at his gardens in Shenango township. The company contested on the grounds that the policy had not been definitely accepted although the testimony showed that the first year's premium had been paid.

Argument for a new trial was also made in the case of Clyde V. Alley, executor, against Eva Wallace and others. In the case of Kate Fetter against Frank S. Nessel argument was made on a motion for judgment for want of a reply, and in the case of the Peoples National bank of Ellwood City against J. Clyde Gillilan, a demurrer was argued.

Two Men Have Close Call With Gas Fumes

(International News Service)
WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 3.—Thomas Flynn, 65, and Edward Hacker, 45, both of Uniontown, Pa., are in the hospital here today slowly recovering from near-asphyxiation.
Mrs. J. A. Virgin, landlady of the house in which they roomed in Clarksburg, found both men unconscious when she investigated their failure to appear for breakfast.
The men turned on a gas fire and shut the windows of their room before retiring and were overcome in their sleep.

ARMY FLYER BUILDS "IDEAL" PLANE

An "ideal plane" on which he has been working for several years is being exhibited at Los Angeles by Lieut. Henry Ogden, one of the United States army round-the-world flyers. The ship is a monoplane, powered by three four-cylinder "in line" motors, and is equipped with dual controls and a soundproof cabin. Simplicity of design in the motors is being shown here by Lieut. Ogden. The hood, thrown back, reveals the easy accessibility of the motors as contrasted with the more or less rigidly fastened cowlings on radial motors.

Some Of New Paper Currency Already Sent For Replacing From Banks In This District

Only a few months since the first consignment of the new paper money issued by the government, was distributed in this city.

But, today, some of the new currency is already enroute back to Washington to be replaced.

In a local banking institution today, several thousand dollars of well worn currency were being packed for shipment back to Washington, or Federal Reserve banks, to be replaced by new currency, and inspection showed that a considerable portion was the new small paper currency issued during the year by Uncle Sam.

Money must be given some terrific punishment on the part of some persons who get hold of it, to get in such condition that within a few months it must be scrapped and replaced by new currency.

Four Local Men After Deer Are Living In Auto

At 2 o'clock Sunday morning a quartet of New Castle men rolled out of their beds, put on their hunting togs and went to Sterling Run, Cameron county, in search of big game.

Now this was nothing unusual, because many scores of local men went up in those wild territories at about the same time. But this certain group of men, consisting of Charles Kelley, Dr. C. B. Hunt, Policeman Harry Plimmer and Joe Prisel of Harrison street went hunting in style. They prepared for the trip several weeks in advance by rigging up an automobile to cook in, sleep in and live thru a week or two very comfortably.

Yes, we have some very clever hunters in New Castle and we will expect to hear of many bear and deer meeting their Waterloo.

Christmas Kettles Await Jingling Coins

There Is Need Of Increased Gifts From The People Of This City

The jingle of the nickles, dimes, quarters and half dollars of the charitably inclined people of this city, and also their paper money gifts in the kettles of the Salvation Army have not so far been as good as there has been reason to expect.

The size of the fund collected in this manner means much in the lives of the poor and needy of this city and it is hoped that the response will be more liberal as the Christmas season approaches, according to Ensign Thomson of the local corps.

A most enthusiastic reception of the kettles and the cause they represent is hoped for this year, owing to the pressing need of funds with which to carry on the relief work of the organization.

If you wonder how many Democrats will be up for re-election next year, observe how many are filled with a zeal for party harmony.

Correct this sentence: When I get a million," said the go-getter, "I'll quit and become a gay and care-free idler."

Paceli Wins From Carpentier In Fifth Round

BY RUBE GOLDBERG

Gets Credit For Technical Knockout

Wildcat Auskings Floors Severio Four Times But Officials Give Severio Draw; Bojarski Wins Over Jennings And Lands Losses To Boler; Bouts Filled With Action; Dispute Figures In Paceli-Carpentier Battle.

By ED FRITZ

Romeo Paceli, 127, New Castle last night appeared in his first feature bout at Jolly bowl and captured a technical knockout over U. S. Carpentier, 129, New Kensington in the fifth chapter of a battle scheduled for 10 rounds.

The bout was ordered stopped by Deputy Commissioner Gent who waved the order to Referee Chip after Carpentier's chief second, Jack McDonald had tossed the towel into the ring in token of surrender.

Romeo had slugged with right and left to the head and dropped Carpentier. Chip, the referee had counted to seven when he received the order from the deputy commissioner.

Following the bout McDonald said he saw Gent arise from his seat and believing that he had ordered Chip to stop the bout started through the ropes and tossed the towel into the ring.

Fighters Start Slugging

There were some fans who said the commissioner's deputy acted first and others who said McDonald had thrown in the towel. Carpentier felt the defeat keenly but had little to say except to request a return bout.

The fight was slow for the first three rounds due to the extreme cautiousness of the fighters. They were apparently evenly matched and trying to make each other lead so that they could beat each other to the punch.

The deputy commissioner ordered them to snap into fighting in the fourth and this resulted in a slugging bee and the fourth chapter was brimful of action and the crowd was in a frenzy.

Paceli sent a right to the jaw in the fifth and Carpentier retaliated to the same spot. Romeo went after Carpentier and landed another right to the chin and Carpentier bounded away but he was hurt.

U. S. tried to jab but his left fell short and Romeo swung right and left to the jaw, and while Carpentier backed away continued to rain rights and lefts to the jaw that made Carpentier's knees buckle.

He was driven into the ropes and he grasped the ropes with his left hand and a punch turned him around in such a way that his back was to Romeo who continued to rain blows on his head.

Battle Is Stopped

Carpentier was driven to the floor and the referee started to count. It was then that the deputy arose from his seat and McDonald started through the ropes after the towel had been tossed and Chip was told to stop the bout.

At the time that he waved Romeo to his corner he had reached a count of seven. Some fans seen the towel go sailing into the ring and others did not see the deputy's motion but both took place.

Wildcat Auskings of Mount Vernon,

O. weighing 134 1-4 and Louie Severio, Meadville, 132½, put on a six round semi-final that was filled with thrills. Auskings dropped Severio four times but when Severio was not on the floor he was outboxing the Ohio fighter.

In the first Auskings sent a right that dropped Severio but he got up without a count. Severio was down for eight in the second but got up and rocked the Wildcat with a right to the chin and had him on the ropes. Severio was dropped again in the third for nine seconds, at the bell.

Full Of Thrills

Severio put a right to the head and Auskings retaliated with a similar punch and they fought to the body. Louie stumbled to his knees but got up and sent a right to the jaw. Auskings sent Louie down with a right for nine but Severio got up and put left right and another right to the chin.

Louie jabbed in the fifth and had Auskings holding the result of body blows and in the sixth he rocked Auskings with punches to the head and the Wildcat seemed very tired. Louie outboxed and outfought Auskings in the last session. The decision was called a draw by the officials. It met with mixed emotions.

Johnny Jennings, 135, New Castle, and Frank Bojarski, 132, Erie, both southpaws fought a hard six round bout in which there was slugging every minute. They rocked each other all over the ring but Bojarski had the best of the boxing as he was faster than Jennings and a little more experienced.

The officials awarded the decision to Bojarski. It was the first time two southpaws fought each other here. In the first six round bout, Frankie Lands, 119½, this city was outboxed by Joe Boler, 120, Erie. Boler carried the fight to Frankie who boxed nicely but was outboxed.

The crowd was poor. The judges were Dunn and Jones of New Castle. George Chip was the referee and Peter Capitola kept time.

McEver Has Chance To Lead Scorers

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Top rating among the nation's individual football scorers today belong to Clark Hinkle, sensational Sophomore back of Bucknell.

The only player in the country who has a chance to top Hinkle and his 128 points is Gene McEver, plunging ace of the undefeated Tennessee eleven, who has tallied 97 points.

Hinkle has completed his season's work but the volunteers have yet to meet South Carolina. Should McEver account for 32 points in the South Carolina affair he would top the Bucknell boy by one point.

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Joe McCarthy, chief officer of the Chicago Cubs, is on his way to the baseball convention at Chattanooga, Tenn., and in his wake he has left vague rumblings regarding a thorough house-cleaning in the Cub ranks this spring.

Tunney And Wife Will Dock Today At New York City

James J. Tunney, Millionaire, Former Heavyweight Champion Is Coming Home

REPORT TUNNEY IS SOMEWHAT CHANGED

By DAVIS J. WALSH

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Having at last forgiven boxing for everything it has done for him, the James J. Tunney who spent the past year donating culture to European capitals is coming home today.

He has done all he can for Europe. From now on, it is strictly on his own and must work out his salvation strictly on his merits. Tunney, it seems, has decided to devote himself to the needs of America, which will be quite a break for boxing hereabouts. It will now have something to be mad at, at least.

A lot of those low fellows of the newspaper business will be there when the boat docks but I understand Tunney is a changed man and nobody will be molested, provided he remembers his place. There used to be an unfortunate difference of opinion about this due to Tunney's mistaken impression that the place in question was with the scullery help. However, it seems that the inherent bigness of the man has asserted itself at last and that he now views reporters with a great and forgiving compassion.

Is Private Citizen. At that, he may be interested to know that this demand for privacy seems to be on the verge of fulfillment. Tunney somehow has lost contact with the news pages during recent months and even the magnified importance of his approach has failed to stimulate more than a casual mention of the fact in the sport sections.

He also may be interested in the rumor that he no longer is of the social register. Mention this as a rumor because I know nothing of the organ in question, being a person whose simple needs are answered by the telephone directory.

Anyhow, Tunney will find many changes have been achieved since last he was with us and that not all of them are for the better. Rickard is gone and the edifice that stands as his monument now promotes five-dollar shows for a profit in haircut money. He will find that it no longer is necessary to accost John Dempsey with the immemorial query, "Will you fight?" John, as everybody knows, will not fight for the best reason in the world. He can't.

Will He Fight? Tunney will find all divisions stagnant, with only Sharkey and Schmeling having "big money" possibilities in the same ring and that the funny thing about this is that you can't even get them in the same country. He will find things so negative, in fact, that they will ask him the question that everybody seems able to answer himself.

They will ask him whether he will fight again, being perfectly satisfied in their minds that he won't. As to that, I wouldn't care to say that they are wrong; merely that they are giving themselves too much chance to be wrong. You always do that when you attempt to guarantee human behavior.

PITTICISMS

By WILLIAM RITT

Just when the sport writers had mastered the spelling of Carideo, Rosen-sweig and Yunevitch the Yanks have to sign a guy named Americus Polli.

Oh, for the good old days when half the ball players were named Joe Smith.

Americus may be a great find for the Yankees but he's a pain in the pencil to the scribes.

A lot of by-line boys stopped having headaches when Stanislaus Zbyszko quit wrestling. And then his brother Wladek took up the game.

But things could be worse. Supposing chess became the national pastime?

Last year A. Nimzowitsch defeated E. D. Boguljubov for the international crown by a couple of syllables and a consonant.

Westminster Floor Prospects Bright

Fans Of Tri-State District Eagerly Watch Coach Lawther And His Big Squad

Westminster Teams In Past Three Years Have Established Wonderful Record

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 3.—Basketball fans in the tri-state district are showing considerable interest in Coach "Johnny" Lawther and his Westminster College basketball team, because of the outstanding record made by the Titans in the last three years.

With 47 victories and nine defeats for that period, Coach Lawther has set just about the best three-year record of any district team. Certainly it is the best record Westminster has ever had. Last year's team, which was accorded the district leadership by the Associated Press, won 15 games and lost two, dropping the conference title only because Wayneburg was not played.

Pace Is Question

Whether or not the Titans can maintain this fast pace is a question that time will have to decide. It is certain, however, that the U. P. quarter will not find the going easy against Grove City and Allegheny next year, both of which teams were defeated twice last season. Reports coming out of the Grove camp would indicate that two lanky lads by the names of Stavitsky and McCann from South Manchester, Conn., are about the best the Groves have seen in a number of seasons.

Add to these two the names of Pegley and Hildebrand, members of last year's state championship Hazelton high school team, and all Bob Thorn will need for a winning outfit is another player to be selected from Captain Ryan, Burke and Elliott.

While Dick Baker, Allegheny court coach, will not admit it, it is common talk on the Methodist campus that three six-footers of ability from out of state are making strong bids for the Meadville team. With Berger, Gamble and Garbarik from last year's team, Baker will undoubtedly have as strong a team as the Methodists have boasted in four or five campaigns.

Lawther Is Skeptical

When confronted with rumors that Westminster will be even stronger than last year, Coach John Lawther stated that unless the men available come through better than he imagines the Titans will drop below last year's record. It is true that Lawther has Captain "Babe" O'Donovan, all-district forward last season; "Sked" Delahunty, all-conference forward; "Bill" Crowell, veteran center; "Marsh" Fisher, lanky guard; "Phil" Rice, star guard; "Mike" Kocheran, lanky center; and "Jinx" Hamas, diminutive forward. It is true, also, that Considine, center; Blanner, forward; Smith, forward; Cann, forward; Tate, forward; Montgomery, center; and Divorak, guard, as well as others from the freshman class will be available. But replacing Tudor Lewis, last year's dashing captain, will be a problem.

Lawther points out that every team in the section will be pointing to the Titan games as they were last year, which means that the blue and white players will have to be keyed up to highest pitch all season. For this reason the schedule has been shortened a bit and the games have been carded so that there will be short rests between each contest.

McDonald Is Busy

Many rumors are going the rounds about what system Lawther will employ this season, what kind of material he has, and what is being done to get ready for the court season. About all that has been accomplished to date is the installation of six baskets in the gymnasium so that the large squad will have plenty of opportunity for practice at the hoops. Down at Beaver Falls there is a rumor that Lawther will have a team no player of which will be less than six feet five inches. As a matter of fact, the so-called Titans may dwindle into midgets this season if Kocheran and Hamas make positions.

Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald is busy arranging a five or six-game schedule of practice games for the Christmas recess. The first of these games will be with independent teams in the district. The first college game will be played at New Wilmington New Year's eve, when the strong Adrian College team will be met. It is possible that one or two Ohio colleges will also be met in pre-season games.

Lawther's men will report tonight for the first intensive practice session and will report six times

"Miss Molly" Makes Great Hit With Audience Monday

Clever Comedy In Two Acts Presented By Friendship Circle Class Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 3.—One of the cleverest comedies of the season was sponsored by members of the Friendship Circle class at the M. E. church Monday evening for the purpose of raising money for the church building fund. The reputations of the cast had been before them, and the church was filled to capacity long before the curtain arose on the first act.

The first scene showed an elderly sister (Mrs. Pearl Powell) and an elderly brother (Harold Burns) making ready for their birthday party. The balance of the play deals with the crabbed old Reginald Peters trying to make a nice old gent of him. The entire cast reflected credit upon the management of the play and "Miss Molly" and Julian Hewitt gave a nice portrayal of leading parts. The comedy honors go to Mrs. Harry Reynolds and John Brown, in the roles of colored servants, whose antics provoked many a roar from the audience. The entire cast was very good and a nice sum should have been cleared for the building fund.

and Walter HAGEN.

GOLF FIRM OF SMITH AND HAGEN—THEY WILL BE FRIENDLY ENEMIES THIS WEEK, BOTH BEING FEARED CONTENDERS FOR DIEGL'S P.G.A. CROWN.

Golf's winter campaign is now under way with the American Professional Golfers' Association championship being played this week at the Hillcrest Club near Los Angeles.

Champion Leo Diegel is defending his title against as fine a field of pro talent ever assembled, including Walter Hagen, the Old Master, and Horton Smith, the Missouri Boy Wonder, whose winter campaign of 1928-29 set the links world ablaze.

Hagen and Smith, since returning from abroad with the U. S. Ryder Cup team last June, have teamed in more than seventy exhibition games during the longest and most prosperous two-man tour in golf history. Old Master and Boy Wonder, they constituted a potent gallery magnet wherever they played. All accounts agree that most of this exhibition golf was superb; they shattered par on scores of courses.

For all too many years, the "Hag" has missed winning important American championships. Four times winner of the British Open, Walter has

SORDS POINTS

Football's Outstanding Individual Scorer

By JACK SORDS

Central Press Sports Cartoonist-Writer.

In one afternoon a grinning, tousle-haired youngster has battered and smashed his way onto a roll of honor wherein blazes the name of the late Christy Mathewson.

Until the Dickinson game, which closed Bucknell's football schedule, there were two Bucknell football immortals. After the game there were three. Clark Hinkle, Bucknell's smashing, hard-driving fullback, is the third.

In that Dickinson game Hinkle gave what is probably the greatest exhibition of individual scoring power in a single game big league football has seen this season.

Hinkle scored eight touchdowns in that game, a total of 50 points. That feat swept Clark from one of the also-rans among the leading scorers of the east to the top of the heap. It gave him a total of 128 points for the season.

Hinkle's feat against Dickinson ranks in Bucknell annals with Christy Mathewson's mighty 48-yard drop kick against a fine Army team in 1898, and Bill Blaisdell's brilliant 65-yard run to touchdown against Navy in 1924, a run which gave the Bison victory.

Notre Dame Is Given High Ranking Due To Extremely Stiff Card

Notre Dame Played Perhaps Strongest Schedule Of Any Football Team In Country

Purdue, Pitt Ranked High, But Their Opposition Could Not Equal That Of The Irish

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Could Notre Dame have beaten Pittsburgh or Purdue with the game the Irish turned up for the benefit of 85,000 people on Saturday? How would they have fared with Tulane, with Utah with Texas Christian or Southern Methodist, with St. Mary's? These questions might seem to be well taken today in view of the obvious fact that Notre Dame wouldn't even have beaten the Army by 7 to 0 if Cagle had thrown his goal-line pass in some sector where it couldn't have been intercepted by the fastest man in football, Jack Elder, who thereupon ran practically the length of the field for a touchdown.

Anyhow, they are questions that a lot of people are asking, and that being the case, it seems only fair for Notre Dame to ask a few of its own, namely: Could the Pitt attack have functioned any better on a playing field that, having been frozen as hard as a tin roof, proved to be just as treacherous? What of Purdue or Tulane, for instance, have come to this game as a better team than Notre Dame, if they had sponsored the schedule that was Notre Dame's?

Purdue Was Good

Purdue played its usual conference program and it wasn't its fault that some of the opponents weren't as tough as everybody had a right to expect. Under normal circumstances, Pitt's list would have been a back-breaker. It wasn't, as matters turned out. As for Tulane, Utah, Texas Christian and St. Mary's, their unbeaten seasons succeeded only in proving that they were the best teams of their individual sections. The Christians, for instance, won the southwest championship on Saturday but they more or less backed into it, considering the fact that they got no better than a 7 to 7 tie with Southern Methodist in their climax game. Far from proving that Texas Christian was a national champion, this might have resulted in a deadlock over mere sectional honors if it hadn't been for the fact that the Methodists had a previous tie game on their conscience.

The Christians, except for Saturday's tie, won all games of a schedule that was played purely on a sectional basis. In the same way, Tulane in the south, Utah on the Rockies and St. Mary's on the coast survived the year unbeaten. But Notre Dame won all games on a schedule that took in every major section and I'm afraid the fact that it was sub-normal in its

State Church Council Meets In Pittsburgh

Crowded Docket As Pennsylvania Church Council Meets For One Day In Pittsburgh

COMMITTEES WILL OFFER REPORTS

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—Faced with a crowded docket, delegates to the one-day 19th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches settled down today to consideration and approval of committee and commission reports. The Rev. P. W. Snyder of Pittsburgh, president of the council, presided.

Appointment of three committees—auditing, enrollment and nomination—and the approval of the reports of the treasurer, the finance committee and the executive secretary and executive committee were the chief business before the meeting at its morning session.

The commission on social service also was to render its report at the morning session which was to be brought to a close by an informal address by Miss Mary S. Labaree, president of the Pennsylvania Conference on Social Welfare. Miss Labaree's address dealt with the work of the conference and its outlook for the future.

Reports Prepared.

With the exception of the address by Rev. Robert Bagnell of Nashville, Tenn., representative to the international goodwill congress; Walter E. Myers, general secretary of the state Sabbath School association, and Rev. Charles L. Goodell, executive secretary of the commission on evangelism of the federal council, practically the entire afternoon session of the meeting was to be devoted to the reception of reports of various committees.

These committees included: International relations, religious education, comity and missions, publicity, auditing, nominating and enrollment. Organizations cooperating with the Pennsylvania Council of Churches also were to render reports of the afternoon session. They were the Lord's Day Alliance of Pennsylvania, Anti-Saloon league of Pennsylvania, Young Women's Christian association, state Young Men's Christian association, state Christian Endeavor Union and the American Sunday School Union.

Participants in the meeting included Rev. S. W. Herman, Harrisburg; Rev. James M. Ferguson, Pittsburgh; Francis J. Hall, Harrisburg; Rev. Leon K. Willman, Wilkes-Barre; Rev. Thomas D. Edgar of Wilkesburg.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Getting suggestions on what to buy for Christmas isn't so tough these days. Well groomed young men and chic looking young women are just "honin'" to show you things that you might never have thought of, for the boy friend, the girl friend, or for anybody else you happen to have on your list.

Perhaps the oddest trinket I've seen in any of the shops is a clock flask which is an innocent enough looking thing, but has room for half a pint concealed in the back. The nozzle or spout or whatever you call the point of exit on a flask is where you expect to find the handle.

Thus far the salesman hasn't been able to explain to me whether the clock is there to mark the time of each drink, or if the flask is there just in case you feel the need when you look at the clock. He fails to state also whether the lining of the flask compartment is proof against the corrosion of present day panther sweat that is being sold for liquor.

Considerable swearing went on around the school board last night. Not the back alley variety, however, but the legal variety. Four school directors swore to uphold and defend the constitution and also swore they hadn't paid anything to get the job. If you can imagine anyone paying to get the job of school director. That's one job that is public service without a dime recompense.

Being a good natured sort of gentleman, the job of president was put over on Dan Woolcock and for the next year he will be the spearhead in the formation. His selection is a good start on any year's work.

The golf liar and his radio relation, with the football fan and fisherman will take a back seat now for the big game hunting stories that will soon be coming out of the north. Ralph Keglar has a bear skin mounted in a local store window as proof of his hunting abilities of last season. And Jack Sines will be passing out tasty saddles of venison to some of his friends.

Here's something to remember when you file your income tax report this year, if any. The gasoline tax you pay when you gas up your car, you can deduct from the tax you can owe the government. This ruling was made by the work of the American Automobile association. If you paid $25 tax during the past year, and you owe $50 income tax, you cut the $25 off.

All of which seems to be just one more reason for wearing a triple A on the radiator of your wagon.

NEW CASTLE DRY GOODS CO.

On Thursday evening, December 5, at 9 o'clock the bowling team of the Lehigh Portland Cement office and the editorial staff of the New Castle News battle for the championship of something or other, and both teams are on edge.

Manager Wes Davy of the Lehigh team is on more than just an ordinary edge. Wes is worked up to, say, a feather edge, and among the lads in the know it is being predicted that his managerial responsibilities will weigh so heavily upon his shoulders that he will blow up.

An agreement was reached this morning whereby the A. B. C. rules will govern the contest. The editor of this great family newspaper said it was all right with him if the X. Y. Z. rules governed. Any rules will do, but in addition to the regular rules, ground rules will be adopted. These are printed below for the edification of the players.

A—All players must be sober at game time, and must not be overweight. This precludes the wearing of any heavy underwear.

B—No ringers will be allowed in the game. This bars out all jewelry salesmen and telephone employees.

C—Rooters who accompany each team must wait until the ball has clunked against the back wall before beginning their cheers.

D—Rooters will not be allowed to carry clubs, canes or cabbages for the entertainment or the annoyance of the players.

E—Players must not bounce their ball off a spectator's head. This constitutes a foul and probably assault, and battery.

F—Players must start their ball somewhere near the foul line. This thing of bouncing the ball half way down the alley is out.

G—When a ball deflects into the gutter before it gets to the pins, no player is allowed to stand out in front and declare himself in profane terms. A crying room will be provided.

H—The scorekeeper must be under bond and his accounts audited at the end of each game.

I—Spiked shoes are not permitted and the cement men are not allowed to use dry cement on their hands to aid them in controlling the ball.

J—Wes Davy is prohibited from telling any hairy fish stories during the progress of the game as this might tend to upset the fine sensibilities of the News team.

K—An impartial referee must be selected to decide all contests, and for this purpose the name of Joe Bulger, eminent agriculturist and chemical analyst is suggested.

L—Any point not covered in these rules will be decided from Roberts Rules of Order.

Garment Workers May Go On Strike

International Ladies' Garment Workers Union Convention Opens In Cleveland

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, Dec. 3.—A resolution calling for strikes in virtually every major garment industrial center in the United States was before a committee here today at the 20th biennial convention of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union.

The resolution, if sanctioned by the convention, would authorize a general strike in Cleveland, New York, Baltimore, Boston, Toledo, Chicago, and Philadelphia. Strike tie-ups in these cities would virtually paralyze the garment-making industry and affect thousands of workers.

May Sanction Strike

Locals here have already voted to go on strike unless their demands that the entire industry in Cleveland be unionized are met. It is expected that the convention will sanction the Cleveland action.

Other resolutions before the convention demand the release of Thomas Mooney and Warren Billings from the San Quentin penitentiary; pledge support to the textile workers of the South; endorse the American Federation of Labor's study of old-age pensions, and condemn the jailing of political prisoners in Russia and demand their release.

Anti-union concerns were labeled as "parasitic" yesterday by Dr. J. H. Hollander, professor of economics at Johns Hopkins University and impartial chairman of the board of arbitration in Cleveland's cloak industry.

"The day of anti-unionism has passed," Dr. Hollander declared.

Optimism seemed to be apparent in all quarters of the union convention today. A large part of this, it was believed, was due to the recent success in retrieving the organization from communistic control and winning the New York Cloak-Makers strike.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of our beloved father, also for floral tributes and cars donated, and ministers.

Buried For Hours Under Limestone, Man Will Recover

BUTLER, Dec. 3.—Walter Robb, 37, employed by the West Penn Cement Company at West Winfield, was being treated in the Butler Hospital today and congratulating himself on a narrow escape from death. When Robb tried to loosen a quantity of limestone in a huge bin at the works the walls of stone collapsed and buried him. Workmen shoveled for two and a half hours before they were able to extricate him. Robb is bruised about the head and body and is suffering from shock.
